Following the presentation of the Report of the Publications Committee, Mr. Cauffman resigned as Chairman and member of the Committee. In resigning, Mr. Cauffman stated that he had served on the Committee for many years and as its Chairman since 1950, and expressed appreciation for the excellent cooperation of the schools and the Printing House in the work of the Committee. It was his feeling, however, that committee assignments should be passed around, and that others of the Board should have an opportunity to serve. Mr. W. E. Allen of Texas, a member of the Publications Committee for more than twenty years, stated that he shared Mr. Cauffman's thinking and also expressed a desire to resign so someone else could serve in his place. The President of the Board accepted the resignations with regret and expressed appreciation for the excellent service the two men had rendered the schools and the Printing House as members of the Committee.

A motion was passed directing the Superintendent of the Printing House to make a study of the Charter and By-Laws of the institution to determine what steps, if any, might be necessary to provide for orderly rotation of membership on the Publications Committee, and to report on his findings and recommendations at the next Annual Meeting. A like motion was passed concerning rotation of membership on the Educational Research Committee.

Upon motion, the President was directed to appoint a committee of superintendents to work with the Superintendent of the Printing House to study further the following resolution passed at the Annual Meeting in 1949, and to bring suggestions to the next Annual Meeting which might be of help in solving this problem:

"It is the intent of the Charter and By-Laws of the Printing House for the Blind that every blind boy or girl of the generally accepted elementary or secondary school age share in the benefits made possible through the Printing House.

"At the present time, there are a number of these children who, through no fault of their own, are sent to public day schools in such a manner that this help is not extended to them.

"The superintendents assembled would like to recommend to the Board of the American Printing House for the Blind that changes be made in the laws governing the Printing House, if necessary, to permit these pupils to be registered through the residental schools for the blind of their respective states to the end that they can benefit from the quota account materials like our residential school pupils do at the present time.

"In the absence of a residential school for the blind in any state, the Board of the American Printing House for the Blind should be empowered to designate a representative and appropriate institution, commission, or department of government in that state to act as the registering agency."

The following officers were re-elected for one year:

Mr. Charles W. Allen, President
Mr. Robert Lambert, Vice-President
First National Bank of Louisville, Treasurer
Mr. F. E. Davis, Secretary

The following Publications Committee Chairman and four members were elected for two years:

Mr. Egbert N. Peeler, Chairman
Mr. V. R. Carter
Mr. W. J. Finch
Mr. Paul J. Langan
Mr. J. M. Woolly

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,
F. E. DAVIS, Secretary

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

November 11, 1952

To The Members Of The Board Of Trustees
Of The American Printing House For The Blind

Gentlemen:

The 1951-1952 fiscal year of the Printing House was marked by two important events. The first was the amendment by Congress of the basic act which authorizes the Federal appropriation "To Promote the Education of the Blind." On May 22, 1952, after two years of intensive promotion, the President of the United States signed the bill which increased the authorization for the annual appropriation to the Printing House from $115,000 to $250,000, which, together with the permanent $10,000 annual grant, makes possible a total yearly appropriation of $260,000 for these purposes. Unfortunately, the passage of the basic amendment came too late in the fiscal year to permit the Congress to make a deficit appropriation for the 1952 year. However, it was possible to secure a supplemental appropriation of $60,000 for the current 1952-1953 fiscal year, in addition to the usual $125,000 grant, making a total of $185,000 allotted to the Printing House by Congress on July 1st last. On the basis of the January, 1952 enrollments, therefore, the per capita quota allocation has been raised from a previous $20.34 to $29.17 for the current fiscal year.

The other event of high importance to the Printing House was the simultaneous meetings of the American Association of Instructors of the Blind and the American Association of Workers for the Blind here in Louisville during the week of June 29-July 4, 1952. At no time before in its history has the Printing House been able to present at first hand its program of activities to such a large segment of workers for the blind. Perhaps, the greatest pleasure and good was that afforded to our staff members and employees in meeting and talking personally with the many teachers and other personnel of the schools and classes whose problems are the particular concern of our institution. It was a strenuous week for all of us, and the weatherman did nothing to cool us down—he really turned on the heat—but it was one of the memorable and productive occasions in our ninety-four years of existence.

At the last Annual Meeting, the attention of the whole Board was called to the need for additional and improved quarters, particularly for storage and for our office workers and staff members. Your Executive Committee is happy to report that plans have been drawn up and bids authorized for the erection of a new structure, to be built directly behind the present manufacturing annex and connected to it by a short runway. The new building will provide 12,000 additional square feet of floor space, and will consist of two floors, each 75 by 80 feet in size. Designed primarily for storage, it will be similar in construction to the present manufacturing plant, and will be readily adaptable for manufacturing purposes if ever so needed in the future. It is expected that it will be finished and in use by fall of 1953, unless undue difficulty is encountered in obtaining necessary steel and construction materials.

In addition to the above building, the architect has been authorized to draw up plans for razing the old east storage vault of the administration building and replacing it with a new wing comprising three stories and basement to house:

An enlarged recording department on the ground floor.

Expanded administrative offices on the first floor.

Board meeting room and library on second floor.

Additional storage for finished stock on the third floor.

It should be noted that funds are already in hand to cover the cost of erecting and furnishing both buildings.

As directed at the last Annual Meeting, your President appointed a five-man Committee on Educational Research, as follows:

Mr. Robert H. Thompson, Chairman

Mr. John C. Lysen

Mr. D. W. Overbeay

Dr. Neal F. Quimby

Mr. Edward J. Waterhouse

The first meeting of this Committee was held on March 3rd and a second meeting this week. A report of the work of this Committee will be given separately by its Chairman.

Before closing, I should like to report that funds donated to

The Reader's Digest Fund for the Blind for the twelve-month period July 1, 1951-June 30, 1952 amounted to approximately $260,000.00. With no particular effort made to expand our fund-raising efforts during the year, this represents an increase of approximately $10,000 over the funds received for this purpose during the previous year.

During the year we have been backed by an efficient and loyal staff, under the fine and able leadership of Mr. Davis, and by a most faithful and cooperative group of employees.

And now, on behalf of the other members of your Executive Committee, as well as myself, may I extend to the ex-Officio members of the Board of Trustees sincere appreciation of the great personal interest and help you give Mr. Davis in the conduct of the affairs of the institution. Particularly, I should like to thank all of the superintendents for their unremitting and effective help with our legislative program in Washington.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES W. ALLEN, President

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

November 11, 1952

Mr. Allen, And Members Of The Board Of Trustees
Of The American Printing House For The Blind

Gentlemen:

Last fall, Mr. Charles W. Allen, President of the Board of Trustees of the American Printing House for the Blind, acting under authorization by the Board, appointed an American Printing House for the Blind Educational Research Committee, as follows:

Robert W. Thompson (Missouri), Chairman
John C. Lysen (Minnesota)
D. W. Overbeay (Iowa)
Neal F. Quimby (New Mexico)
Edward J. Waterhouse (Perkins)

The stated purpose of this Committee was to investigate and recommend projects in the field of educational research to be undertaken by the staff of the American Printing House for the Blind.

The first meeting of this Committee was called March 3, 1952, at the office of the Superintendent of the Printing House. This meeting was attended by Mr. Waterhouse and the Chairman; bad weather and other obligations prevented other members from attending. The members absent sent communications expressing their views. Mr. Paul J. Langan of Kentucky was invited to sit with the Committee and Superintendent Davis. At the beginning of the meeting, Mr. Davis announced that Miss Hooper had agreed to head up the research project for the next several months. This was approved by the Committee.

Chairman Thompson presented a summary of research projects which had been referred to him by various schools and classes for the blind. These were carefully considered and referred to appropriate workshop groups for consideration and evaluation at the AAIB Convention in June.

The Committee then discussed definitions and types of research. It was generally agreed that it might consider two kinds as being useful:

1. Experiments which could be informally initiated and engaged in, and observed in an objective manner, with a view toward wider acceptance of those experimental practices which receive generally favorable response.

2. Formal, technical, and objective research.

In discussing the second type of research, it was agreed by those present and those who corresponded that, to be worthy of the name of research, a few special considerations were necessary:

1. If research is to be technical and objective, it must be planned.

2. A plan must be made and approved for each research problem before it is undertaken

3. The plan should include the following considerations:

   a. An exact definition of the problem.

   b. The application of the problem to our work.

   c. The number and nature of studies the problem involves.

   d. A survey of existing research to see what reliable information may already be available.

   e. Survey of the other sources and resources from and through which the concluding data might be gathered or contributed.

   f. Determination of the several techniques which might be required to complete the study.

   g. A plan for following-up the research on the problem for evaluation purposes.

   h. The estimated cost of the research project.

In the meantime, Miss Hooper was asked to do two things:

1. Make a survey of what is being, or has been, done in the field of educational research for the blind.

2. Attend the several regional conferences of teachers during the next few months and, while enroute, to visit as many schools and classes as might be feasible.

A second meeting of the Educational Research Committee of the APH was held in the office of the Superintendent on Sunday, November 9, 1952, at 4:00 p.m., with all members present.

Miss Hooper read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved. She then reported on her progress since the last meeting of the Committee:

Compilation of Available Research Studies:

Miss Hooper reported that she is now in the process of collecting this information, but because of her other duties she has not had time to complete the compilation.

Visits to Regional Conferences and Schools:

Miss Hooper visited four regional conferences and proposes to attend other appropriate conferences before the end of the year. She visited twelve schools for the blind and visually handicapped, three organizations of Braille and sight-saving classes in the public schools, and one Commission for the Blind division of education.

Miss Hooper met teachers, directors, and administrators. She discussed the work of the APH with them. She explained the new research project. She invited them to submit their problems for study. All of them were happy to have this direct contact with the Printing House and were most cooperative and pleasant to Miss Hooper. Most of their problems seemed to deal with Braille. These and other problems were presented to the Committee for consideration. An increasing number of problems are expected to be submitted.

Action on problems were taken as follows:

1. The problem of developing pre-primers and primers in Braille, including more appropriate experiences for blind children, is to be referred to several graduate schools of education to be used as possible thesis subjects. The work would be done in cooperation with the APH Director of Educational Research.

2. The development of special readiness reading materials based on senses other than sight, and designed to develop muscular coordination and readiness for reading and writing Braille is being referred to the Kindergarten and Primary Teacher workshops. Again, the APH Director of Research would help lead the effort.

3. Miss Hooper is to set up some revisions of pre-primers and primers for experimental use from which the capital and punctuation signs have been eliminated. These would be tried in selected schools.

4. Problems of Braille music and Braille specifications, as well as sizes of Braille pages, are being referred to the Joint Uniform Braille Committee for evaluation and specific recommendations.

5. Authorization for the early embossing of an algebra text in the Nemeth Code of Braille Mathematics by the Printing House was approved. It would then be recommended for trial in selected schools. This grows out of a recommendation by the Joint Uniform Braille Committee.

6. The problems of proper size of type, style of type, and quality of illustrations used in our large type books has been referred to the APH Director of Research for an objective study. We should know more about the best type size for various age children, the style of type most readable by the greatest number of eye-deficient pupils, and type of retouching that can be done to make the standard text illustrations more meaningful to eye-deficient pupils.

Many problems were so generally stated that the Committee was not sure just what was the true nature of the problem. These have been held over for clarification and action at a later date.

Miss Hooper reported two projects as having already been undertaken:

1. A joint project between the APH and the American Foundation for the Blind, consisting of the development of a typing manual to be published in Talking Book and Braille, to be ready shortly after the first of the year.

2. A public speaking text in Talking Book and Braille. This project is just getting under way.

Superintendent Davis reported to the Committee that he felt that the members of the Committee could not do as much of the work as he had previously thought they could, and that a full-time Research Director should probably soon be appointed. The Committee shared his feeling that enough preliminary work had been done to justify the early designation of such a person.

The members of the present Committee wish to convey to the Board of Trustees their feeling that, though initial progress has been slow, all has gone as rapidly as it is probably safe to go.

When one considers the detail that has been outlined, and the plans that have been made, it must be concluded that Miss Hooper has made a good start. It must be remembered that she has not been able to give full time to the work. We have appreciated the leadership given by both Miss Hooper and Mr. Davis.

We believe it is entirely proper that this work be initiated slowly. None of us is sure of his responsibilities. Our first year has been largely exploratory. Once proper channels for action have been evolved and responsibilities are understood, we belive succeeding committees can proceed more certainly and more rapidly.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT H. THOMPSON, Chairman
Committee on Educational Research

REPORT OF THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

November 11, 1952

To The Memers Of The Board Of Trustees
Of The American Printing House For The Blind

Gentlemen:

During the past year, a total of 208 literary titles and 91 music selections have been embossed. Of the former, 61 comprised juvenile supplementary reading and fiction titles, and 19 basic textbooks. In the first four months of the current fiscal year, 64 textbook-type books have been put into production, most of which have been advertised to the schools and are now ready for press, and will be printed during the next two months. In the large type department, 47 new titles were added to the catalog during the 1951-1952 year and 26 have been put into production during the first four months of this year, with a number of the latter already delivered. Twenty titles of juvenile fiction in Talking Book form were recorded under the auspices of your Committee during the last fiscal year. Publication in Braille grade 2 of one new Braille magazine for the schools—STORY PARADE—was started with the September, 1952 issue.

In passing, it should be noted that no materials for the schools have been embossed in Braille grade 1½ for the past year, with the exception of duplicate grade 1½ and grade 2 editions of MY WEEKLY READERS No. 2 to No. 5 inclusive, the grade 1½ editions of which were discontinued this fall because of too few orders to justify the plate-making costs. During the year, also, a change was made from Braille grade 1½ to 2 in the embossing of the literary parts of all music selections.

Titles approved for submission for tentative orders, and subsequent publication during the present year according to by-law provision, include the following:

1. Textbooks for Paralleling in Both Braille and Large Type:

   All recommendations received on the general subject of home economics and also the AMERICAN RED CROSS LIFE-SAVING MANUAL.

2. Books for Supplementary Reading and Fiction to Be Embossed in Braille Only:

   A list of from 75 to 100 titles, taken from lists recommended by the schools and which are highly recommended by such standard catalogs as "The Children's Catalog," "The High School Catalog" and The Booklist of the American Library Association. In addition, all titles which were recommended by a number of the schools from the list prepared by the Oregon School for the Blind were approved for submission for tentative orders.

3. Books of Supplementary Reading and Fiction to Be Recorded in Talking Book Form Only:
   A list of from 20 to 25 such titles taken from lists recommended by the schools and by the Printing House staff and which are also highly recommended by the above-named standard library catalogs.

4. LEARNING TO READ BRAILLE by Jennette Maris, which was written as a master's thesis and is designed for teaching Braille grade 2 to older grade pupils. It is proposed that this manual be made available in both Braille and in ink-print form.

5. THE AMERICAN VEST POCKET DICTIONARY (Random House, 1951), to be embossed in Braille grade 2 and designed to take the place of the old Funk and Wagnall's POCKET DICTIONARY as a small, compact dictionary for use by intermediate students and dictaphone typists.

In addition to the above approved titles, the Committee has directed the Printing House to make an immediate request for additional recommendations from the schools and classes in the fields of foreign languages (particularly Spanish and French), science (with emphasis on a new series for the entire eight grades plus a possible chemistry text), and English literature and story reading series to cover the entire eight grades and the high school.

No music selections not included in already approved lists were submitted to the Committee this year. At the present time, there is a backlog of approved music titles which will require nearly two years to emboss and print.

Your Publications Committee approved the recommendation by the Committee on Educational Research that Welchon and Krickenberger's ALGEBRA: BOOK I (Ginn, 1949), which has just been made available in both large type and Braille grade 2 (the latter in the Taylor mathematics notation), be embossed immediately in the Nemeth Code of Braille Mathematics, so that a selected list of schools may experiment with the new notation as a basis of report on its merits by the Joint Uniform Braille Committee in presenting this code to the World Braille Council for adoption internationally for the writing of mathematical materials in Braille.

On the recommendation of the Joint Uniform Braille Committee (speaking also in behalf of the Regional Meeting of Music Teachers held in St. Louis a year ago and the Workshop of Music Teachers of the AAIB), the Publications Committee requests approval by the Board of Trustees of the adoption of the following minor changes in usage with regard to writing Braille music:

"1. To facilitate sight reading, it is recommended that the time and key signature be placed on the line below the usual music terms at the beginning, and that they be indented.

"2. Passages of vocal music containing many notes to one syllable should be enclosed by the bracket-slur."

The Board of Trustees of the Printing House is asked to approve these suggested changes, since the Printing House, by Board action at the Annual Meeting of the Trustees in 1935, was expressly directed to follow the Rodenberg KEY TO BRAILLE MUSIC NOTATION and its 1930 SUPPLEMENT in the writing of all music authorized by the Publications Committee, and the above recommendations are not provided for in these codes.

Because of the evident need for more time for the schools and classes to make recommendations of titles for publication, and of the Printing House staff for compiling, identifying and evaluating such recommendations, the Committee approved of a plan to change the date for requesting recommendations from early September with a time limit of October 15th for reply, to March 1st with a return time limit of reply of May 1st, such plan to be instituted in the spring of 1953. All recommendations received in reply to this request will be considered at the next regular meeting of the Publications Committee in the fall of 1953, with resulting approved lists of titles to be submitted to the schools and classes immediately thereafter and the finally-approved titles to be put into production promptly.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEF G. CAUFFMAN, Chairman
Publications Committee

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

November 11, 1952

To The Memers Of The Board Of Trustees
Of The American Printing House For The Blind

Gentlemen:

The twelve months since our last Annual Meeting have been extremely busy and fruitful ones for the Printing House and it gives me very real pleasure to present this report of my fifth year as your Superintendent.

As Mr. Allen has pointed out, one of the biggest achievements was the passage of the amendment to the Printing House for educational purposes. It is to be regretted that the difficulties in getting this increase authorized seemed insurmountable for such a long period and that the delay in passage came just at a time when additional books and materials of all kinds were so desperately needed by the schools and classes. The total $185,000 appropriation granted by the Congress for the current 1952-1953 year has been of inestimable help, but a further request for an increase for 1953-1954 has already been submitted to the Bureau of the Budget, and it is hoped that a total of $223,000 will be available from Federal funds next year. I am deeply grateful to the superintendents of the schools for their very effective help in presenting our requests to their Senators and Representatives, and it gives me great confidence to know that I can continue to count on your assistance at all times.

In addition to the building program being undertaken by the Executive Committee with a view to enlarging and revamping our physical plant, needed additional quarters have already been provided for the large type plate-making department through the transfer of storage of raw materials for the ink-printing department to other parts of the building, thereby releasing 450 square feet of floor space for this rapidly expanding part of our operation. Since the plate-making process has been our biggest bottleneck in this department, the provision of adequate working space for this purpose should help immeasurably in our goal to supply parallel Braille and large type editions of the books needed by the schools and classes. As a matter of fact, in the less than three to four months' time the enlarged plate-making department has been in operation, it has been possible to increase production by nearly 64 per cent over the previous entire year.

Plans are now being drawn up to move the Braille stereotyping department from next to the machineshop on the ground floor of the factory annex to the second floor of the west wing of the administration building. This space is at present being used for storage of raw materials for various departments, but as soon as the new storage annex is completed next fall, these materials can be transferred, and the embossing department removed to this convenient location, where it will be in immediate access to the Braille proofreading department and to the Braille Editor, which should greatly increase the efficiency of operation.

For the third successive year, the Printing House has conducted an operation in excess of $1,000,000. This was achieved, in spite of the fact that the additional Federal appropriation was not available until the beginning of the new fiscal year. The increased production has been mainly in the large type, tangible apparatus, Talking Book, and Braille magazine departments. The most notable increase was the doubling over the previous year of the large type printing, and in the manufacture of a number of new items of tangible apparatus. The magazine department continues to grow, and we are now currently publishing 52 Braille magazines and 3 Talking Book magazines on regular schedules.

The mechanical research department has, by and large, concentrated on the development of the relief globe on which work has progressed to a fairly advanced stage, and on what it is hoped will be the final model of the new stereotyping machine. It is expected that, as soon as this last model is finished, it will be possible to go into simultaneous production on a number of these machines. Final plans are now being worked out for the development of a new type, lightweight Braillewriter.

During the past two months, new catalogs have been issued of our large type and Talking Book publications. The former is again issued in mimeographed form, since it is still small enough to include the listing of projected publications for the information of the schools and classes. The Talking Book catalog is in the usual printed form, but all titles recorded prior to 1941 have been discarded from the listing because of poor quality of recording according to present standards. A new catalog of Braille Publications is in process and will be available early in 1953. This new catalog will omit all titles which have been embossed in Braille grade 1½. However, there is a small stock of our old 1950 catalogs on hand for the use of anyone wishing to order grade 1½ titles, and no plates or book stocks in this grade of Braille now on hand will be discarded until it is certain that there will be no further call for them.

Although the actual conference took place within the present fiscal year, I should like to report the pleasure afforded me in being one of the American delegates to the International Conference on Blind Youth held at Bussum, Holland, July 25-August 2 last. Delegates were in attendance from thirty-four countries, and the discussions included all aspects of the education of blind children everywhere. As a final act, the Conference drew up and adopted a code of minimum essentials which should act as goals of procedure for the educators of the blind throughout the world. In addition to attendance at the Conference itself, it was possible for me to visit a number of the major institutions and agencies for the blind of Western and Northern Europe and to acquaint myself with their operations. I am greatly indebted to the Board of Trustees for making this trip possible.

In closing, may I again extend my appreciation to Mr. Allen and the other members of the Executive Committee and to the ex-Officio Trustees for their always considerable support and inspiration, and to the untiring and faithful staff members and employees without whose energetic efforts very little could be accomplished.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. Davis, Superintendent

The Reports of the Executive Committee, Publications Committee, Educational Research Committee, and Superintendent were read and approved, and ordered published in the Annual Report as noted on pages 7, 10, 14, and 16 respectively.

The committee to study the possibilities of expanding the services of the American Printing House for the Blind under the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind" to include blind children not enrolled by the residential or public school classes for the blind, which the President had been directed to appoint by the Trustees at the meeting in 1952, reported that, at a meeting between members of the Committee, Superintendent Davis, and representatives of the Department, they had presented the question to the Legal Division of the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and had been advised that it was the opinion of the Department's legal counsel that, under the present law, it was possible for the Printing House to furnish books and materials on quota accounts to the residential schools and organized public school classes for the blind only. In view of this opinion, the committee recommended that the Board of Trustees of the Printing House recognize the need for a solution to the problem, and pending the passage of proper legislation, directed that:

> "Superintendents of residential schools and organized classes for the blind should continue to loan books, etc., to individual students within the limits of the funds, books, etc., available to them from the Printing House under quota accounts; and, further,
> "The Superintendent of the American Printing House for the Blind should continue study of the problems with a view to obtaining, at the proper time, the necessary legal changes to the present law, if and when necessary."

In keeping with the motion, approved at the 1952 Annual Meeting, instructing the Superintendent to make a study of the Constitution and By-Laws of the institution to determine what steps, if any, might be necessary to provide for an orderly rotation of membership on the Publications Committee, and to report on his findings and make recommendations at the next Annual Meeting, the Superintendent presented the following report and recommendation, which were approved:

> "In view of the fact that the present By-Laws of the institution require the election of the entire Publications Committee by the Board of Trustees every two years, and, inasmuch as any change in the By-Laws must be made at a regular or special meeting of the Board, the call for which must contain the proposed change and must be sent to the Trustees 60 days prior to the meeting, it is recommended that:
> "The call for the 1954 Annual Meeting should include a proposal for changing the By-Laws of the American Printing House for the Blind whereby the five members of the Publications Committee elected at the 1954 Annual Meeting should organize, select their own Chairman, and decide among themselves the terms of office of the individual members for one to five years; that thereafter one member only should be elected each year for a term of five years, with the further proviso that no member would be eligible to immediately succeed himself."

With regard to a similar motion passed at the 1952 Annual Meeting, requesting provision of an orderly rotation of membership on the Educational Research Committee, it was recommended that a suitable resolution be prepared for presentation at the 1954 Annual Meeting establishing procedure for the election and rotation of committee membership of this Committee.

It was reported by the Superintendent that the American Association of Workers for the Blind had adopted a Code of Ethics setting up principles and standards for public relations and fund raising of agencies for the blind. He stated that he had served as a member of the AAWB committee which had drawn up the code and that he felt it was a good thing for agencies for the blind as well as the blind themselves. He further reported that, in order for the Printing House to be awarded the Seal of Good Practice, it would be necessary to make application and file with the Committee on Ethics information concerning the methods of fund raising, use of funds, public relations, and services of the institution and requested approval of the Board to supply such necessary information concerning Printing House operations. Upon motion, the request was approved.

The following officers were elected for one year:

Mr. Charles W. Allen, President

Mr. Robert Lambert, Vice-President

Mr. F. E. Davis, Secretary

First National Bank of Louisville, Treasurer

Upon motion, duly seconded, the Superintendent was reelected for a period of two years.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. DAVIS, Secretary

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

November 10, 1953

To The Members Of The Board Of Trustees
Of The American Printing House For The Blind

Gentlemen:

At the Annual Meeting a year ago, your Executive Committee announced that plans were under way for the erection of two new buildings, one to be used primarily for the storage of raw materials, as well as Braille and large type printing plates and Talking Book masters and mothers, the other to be designed to house expanded administrative offices, a new recording studio, Board room, library, storage for finished stock, and adequate space for our rapidly growing magazine department. During the past year, a two-story structure has been erected to the rear of the manufacturing annex, and is now in use with the exception of the manufacture and installation of the metal racks for the storage of printing plates and Talking Book masters and mothers. The finished cost of the storage annex will be approximately $75,000. Plans for razing the present east storage wing, and replacing it with a new and larger building, are still in the formative stage, but it is hoped that work on this large unit will begin shortly after the first of the year.

In keeping with the action of the Board at the meeting last year, your President appointed the following committee of superintendents to study further the resolution passed by the Board in 1949 relative to expanding the services of the American Printing House for the Blind to include the numerous children not now enrolled in "public educational institutions for the blind" as required by the Federal Act:

Dr. M. E. Frampton, Chairman

Mr. W. E. Allen, Co-Chairman

Mr. Francis M. Andrews

Dr. J. E. Bryan

Mr. Leo J. Flood

A report of the activities of this Committee to date will be made elsewhere in this meeting.

Approximately $25,000 worth of new machinery and equipment has been acquired or authorized for purchase during the past few months as follows:

Modern office dictating equipment	$ 550
Multigraph machine with automatic feed	1,800
Machine-shop equipment	3,800
Bindery equipment	1,200
Talking Book pressing equipment	14,000
Electric fork-hook hoist truck for new warehouse	3,400

While the first two items on the list will replace wornout or outmoded equipment, all of the others represent additions to our facilities which should aid considerably in increasing our output of materials.

During the year, there have been several changes in staff personnel, on which Mr. Davis will report. I should like to report, however, that, in accordance with the recommendation of your Committee on Educational Research at the meeting last year, a full-time Director of Educational Research has been hired, effective September 1st of this year. Mr. Samuel C. Ashcroft comes to his work with a thorough background knowledge of our specialized field of research, having been Principal of the Iowa Blind and Sight Saving School for two years, and for three years previous to that a teacher in the Department for Exceptional Children of the Battle Creek, Michigan, Public Schools, which also has a Class for the Blind. In addition, for the past year, Mr Ashcroft has been studying towards his Ed. D. degree at the University of Illinois, specializing in research on the education of the blind. We are most fortunate in obtaining the services of a young man with his abilities and energy.

Again, I am happy to report an increase in the amount of donations to the institution. During the past 1952-1953 fiscal year, a total of $297,402.22 was received in contributions, representing an increase of approximately $40,000 over the amount received the year before.

We have been fortunate recently to have added to our Board of Trustees, to fill a vacancy on the Executive Committee, Mr. John B. McFerran, Jr. He has been a resident of Louisville all his life and stands very high in our community. I know that he will prove a valuable addition to the Board.

As always, may I express to the ex-officio members of the Board of Trustees the very great appreciation of your Executive Committee for the services you give to the Printing House, and particularly do I want to express our pleasure in the attendance of such a large group of superintendents at this meeting. I do not believe that so many Board members have met in Annual Meeting before in the history of the Printing House. And to you, Mr. Davis, may I extend our sincere congratulations on your election as Chairman of the Board of Governors of Lions International, as well as for your effective services as Superintendent of the Printing House. I believe you will all agree that we have the right man in Mr. Davis.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES W. ALLEN, President

REPORT OF THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

November 10, 1953

Mr. Chairman And Members Of The Board Of Trustees:

Out of a total of 251 titles embossed during the 1952-1953 fiscal year, 145 were produced for the schools and classes for the blind. Of this 145 books, 85 comprised basic textbooks, 56 were library books and juvenile fiction, and 4 were special books ordered by individual schools. All of the books approved at the meeting of the Committee last year which received the required number of tentative orders have been completed, with the exception of about 10 juvenile titles which will require less than 500 Braille pages and which will be completed in less than a month's time, plus 5 titles on home economics.

This is probably the first time in many years that the Braille department has been able to complete all of the assignments from the Committee during the year. It is true, of course, that a large part of the library books and fiction titles have not been delivered to the schools, although almost without exception all of the basic texts have been shipped. The reason for the delay in printing and binding the non-text materials has been the overwhelming number of orders from the schools and classes for textbook reprints during the spring, summer, and fall months, which has completely swamped the printing, binding and shipping departments. It was felt that the schools would prefer to receive their basic text materials first, and so the finished plates for the library books and fiction titles are just now being sent to press for delivery during the next two months. For the record, the plates for a total of 66 such finished titles are at present being held in the plate vault ready for printing.

Production in the large type department has continued on the same increased level achieved during the latter part of last year, following the enlargement of the large-type plate-making department. Fifty-six new titles, plus numerous reprints, representing nearly 3,700,000 pages, were produced during the year, as compared to approximately 2,400,000 pages for the previous fiscal year—an increase of more than 50 per cent. In addition to increased production, considerable emphasis has been placed on improving the quality of printing and the attractiveness of the books themselves, including the introduction of a silk-screen process for printing the covers in varied colors to match the covers of the regular ink-print books from which our large type books are reproduced. As is the case with the Braille department, all textbooks assigned for publication by the Committee last year have been put into production, although delivery on a large number of the new titles is being delayed because of the necessity for making reprints.

Last year, the Committee approved a list of approximately 30-50 titles for submission to the schools for tentative orders for recording. Of this list, 14 titles received sufficient orders to authorize publication, and all of these books have been recorded. In connection with the recording of juvenile titles, it should be noted that the Library of Congress has purchased copies of all thus far produced. It is to be hoped that the Library will award the Printing House a number of Talking Book titles of juvenile interest on its own authority, thus increasing our catalog of this type of publication. If this situation does develop, the Printing House should consult with the Library to the end that there will be no duplication of titles of juvenile interest as between the Library and the Printing House should the Library elect to award titles at this age level to the Foundation for recording.

To conclude the record of production for the past year, the problems of Braille music should not be overlooked. Approximately 1,900 pages of new music plates were embossed during the year, and most of these are now in the process of being printed. At the present time, the music approved for embossing is of a highly difficult nature, such as Bach's LITURGICAL YEAR for the organ, some ten or fifteen method books for various wind and stringed instruments, orchestra folios, and the like. Music of this type takes from three to four times as long to emboss and proofread as ordinary piano, vocal and choral selections, and they require the most highly skilled of embossers and proofreaders—whose services are difficult to obtain. The problems of Braille music embossing are among the most baffling to solve which we face at the present time. For the present, we have been able to secure adequate efficient Braille music proofreaders; what we need are skilled Braille music embossers. It must be recognized that the costs of music embossing are necessarily extremely high, and the only way to increase production of needed new music is to accept the costs involved and proceed to try to make available an adequate number of new selections each year.

In making plans for next year, the Committee studied the list of books recommended by the schools and classes and made tentative plans as follows:

1. The major portion of the books recommended for Brailling last spring will be submitted to the schools and classes within the next few weeks for tentative orders. It is anticipated that replies will be received promptly, and that the Printing House will proceed to emboss such titles as receive the minimum requirement of orders from 5 schools for a total of 20 copies. The subject fields included are as follows: foreign languages, science, English literature, basic readers, story readers, social studies readers, health and hygiene, history and geography, and psychology. It should be noted that this list is larger than the one last year. During the past four or five years we have been in the process of embossing new titles for all subjects in the elementary grades to replace the titles which were in Braille grade 1½. We have now reached the point where we should begin a second cycle in order to have new titles embossed on a regular schedule. It is not anticipated that new titles will be embossed in all of the fields listed above, but books will be Brailled in the order of popularity. Particular attention will be given to foreign languages, science, high school literature, and readers.

2. During the past year, a number of favorite classics which have always been available in Braille grade 1½ were reembossed in grade 2 Braille. The Committee has requested the Printing House to select more of the classics for reembossing, such a list to be submitted to the schools and classes on tentative orders as usual.

3. It was agreed that all of the recommended library books which were double starred in THE CHILDREN'S CATALOG would be presented to the schools and classes on tentative order lists. It is anticipated that all books which meet the minimum requirements for manufacturing will be embossed.

4. In like manner, all books that are double starred in The Children's Catalog will also be presented on tentative order lists for publication in large type.

5. The list of books recommended for recording was much smaller this year than in 1952. The Committee felt that it would be advisable to select the best titles from the new list and some from the unfinished 1952 list in order to have a balanced program of recording.

6. The entire list of music requested last spring will be submitted to the schools for tentative orders. In addition to this list, there will be added all music selections which were requested by the Music Workshop group of the AAIB.

7. Your Committee felt that it would be advisable to again ask the schools for new recommendations during the spring months. This was done last spring and the procedure seems to be better than the former practice. It is expected that the requests for recommendations will be sent to the schools about the first of March, and that their replies will be received about the first of May.

Respectfully submitted,

Egbert N. Peeler, Chairman

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH

November 10, 1953

Mr. Allen And Members Of The Board Of Trustees
Of The American Printing House For The Blind:

The Educational Research Committee met in the office of the Superintendent at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, November 8, and the members present were:

J. C. Lysen, Minnesota

Donald W. Overbeay, Iowa

Edward J. Waterhouse, Massachusetts

Robert H. Thompson, Missouri, Chairman

In addition to routine business, the Committee passed a resolution indicating the Committee's appreciation for the splendid initial impetus given its work by Miss Hooper while she was acting as Director of Research Projects, and another resolution concurring in the selection of Mr. Ashcroft as the current full-time Director of Research and assuring him of our pleasure and confidence in his new assocation with us.

One project actually under way is the experimental use of The Nemeth Code of Braille Mathematics in the algebra classes of 13 schools for the blind. A second project, the development of a Talking Book course in typing, was completed and the results have proved popular.

The Committee recommended that those in our field of work should recognize that the Department is young and the new Director and his research staff are at present synonomous terms. It cannot possibly satisfy many requests for studies and advice immediately. Accordingly, the Committee requests that all projects be submitted to the Committee for evaluation and approval before they are assigned to the Director.

Another recommendation was that superintendents refer all research questionnaires regarding educational matters to the Director for his information and advice to the end that there will be an improvement in the quality of studies and a concentration on the most worthy ones.

It was also recommended that the Committee undertake to request a joint national conference among groups conducting research in this field under the call of one of the more established research foundations, such as the American Foundation for the Blind. The purpose would be to have these research groups become cognizant of each other and their special interests, opening the way to the efficient utilization of all resources on a constructive level.

The Director was commissioned by the Committte to continue to push the unfinished work initiated by Miss Hooper and to embark on a new investigation in his own right to develop an objective method of analysing the difficulties of Braille reading. The Director was asked to prepare a research plan for this problem which would indicate the methods, scope, resources, objectives, and possible cost of the project as a preliminary.

We believe the work of this new department is off to a good start, and express our appreciation to the Board of Trustees of the Printing House for its establishment of this department.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

November 10, 1953

To The Members Of The Board Of Trustees
Of The American Printing House For The Blind

Gentlemen:

It gives me great pleasure to present this report of the activities of the Printing House for the 1952-1953 fiscal year:

Production

The overall production of the entire plant for the year did not exceed to any great degree that of the previous year, principally due to a reduction in contracts for both Braille and Talking Books from the Library of Congress. However, while approximately 4 per cent fewer Talking Books were manufactured during the year, the number of Braille volumes and pamphlets was increased by approximately 20 per cent, Braille magazines by 8 per cent, Braille music selections by nearly 50 per cent, and large type publications by approximately 35 per cent. The increase in Braille and large type production has been due in the main to the increased demand for such materials from the schools and classes for the blind, due in turn to their increased pupil loads and the greater need for basic textbooks and teaching materials. Never in the history of the Printing House have the annual book orders sent in during last spring and summer been so large; thus, it is with very real pride that we can report that 20,389 Braille volumes and pamphlets and 3,500 large type books were manufactured during the first three months of the current 1953-1954 fiscal year for delivery to the schools and classes in time for school opening. The 20,389 Braille books and 3,500 large type books amount to 30.4 per cent of the total Braille production and 26 per cent of the total large type production for 1952-1953.

In addition to increasing production in the Braille and large type departments, considerable stress has been laid on improving the quality of these materials, particularly large type books. Better reproduction of the print copy has been achieved, and a silk-screen process has been adopted for printing the covers of large type books in various colors similar to the original ink-print texts. As reported by Mr. Allen, several thousand dollars' worth of new equipment and machinery have been, or are being, purchased for the machineshop, bindery, and Talking Book departments which will greatly increase the quality and efficiency of production. In the Braille plate-making department, tests were conducted looking to the substitution of aluminum plates for the usual zinc plates, and several thousand pounds of such plates have been ordered. It is felt that the aluminum plates will be less costly in the long run, because of their lighter weight and easier handling in the embossing operation as well as storage, and that this material may possibly hold up better than zinc under heavy usage. The possibility of using aluminum as well as zinc will also help ease the periodic shortage of plate material due to frequent strikes at the zinc rolling mills, which have resulted in our receipt of only minimum allotments of plates for many months and thus prevented stockpiling against shortages cause by such strikes.

Change in Personnel

A number of changes in staff personnel have occurred in recent months. Mr. Allen has reported on the appointment of Mr. Samuel C. Ashcroft as Director of Educational Reseach. It is with regret that I must report that, effective June 1st, Mr. William B. Watkins, who has been Production Engineer and head of the Talking Book Department for the past fifteen years, resigned to go into private business. Mr. Richard M. Lee, who has headed our technical research for the past seven years, was advanced to the position of Production Engineer. The Talking Book studio has been reorganized to provide for a studio manager and a literary advisor or supervisor, both to work under the supervision of Mr. Lee. Because of the very great increase in magazine publication, both Braille and Talking Book, during the past several years, it has been found necessary to set up a separate magazine department. Miss Hazel V. Maffet, secretary to the Superintendent, has been placed in charge of this phase of our work. The duties of our other three staff members—Miss Marjorie S. Hooper as Braille and Large Type Editor and advisor on fund-raising, Mr. Virgil Zickel as Plant Manager, and Miss Jane T. Kent as Office Manager—remain unchanged.

Technical Research and Production of Tangible Apparatus

For the past several years, much attention has been given to the expansion of our tangible apparatus department, and to the production of new mechanical aids and the improvement of long-time catalog items. Work along these lines has taken two forms:

Research and production projects which have been completed entirely through the endeavors or under the supervision of our own personnal;

The establishment of agreements with outside inventors or other agencies for the adaptation, development, and/or production of new items of tangible apparatus.

a. Items which have been developed exclusively through the efforts of our own personnel, and on which work has been conducted the past year, are as follows:

Cubarithm Slate—This apparatus consists of a type frame made of red semirigid vinyl with square holes. The frame is so designed that it can be used as an arithmetic slate employing either Braille cubes or Arabic type (both made of hard yellow plastic) or as a pegboard employing hard blue plastic square pegs. The slate itself is produced at the Printing House, but the type and pegs are manufactured to our specifications by a commercial concern. The first lot of type frames and type have been completed and a number of sets delivered to the schools and classes.

Aluminum Slates—During recent months, Government restrictions cut off the supply of German silver for civilian use. This is the nickel alloy which we have used for many years in the manufacture of all our Braille slates. We, therefore, turned to aluminum, and are now manufacturing slates from this material. Aside from their lighter weight, the new slates have the advantage of not having to be made of a shiny material, with its accompanying evils of excessive reflection and lack of contrast of colors. The first lot, which were pocket slates, were finished in black, but in the future it is planned to make them of a number of different colors (similar to the brightly colored aluminum drinking glasses now found on the market), which should add to their attractiveness for children.

New Stylus Points—Heeding the complaints of many of the schools and blind individuals that our stylus points were easily bent or broken and did not produce uniformly good dots, we developed a new type point which is sturdy in design and produces excellent dots. All styluses on hand when the new points were completed were withdrawn from stock and refitted with the new type points.

Simple Method of Reproducing Braille—Schools, libraries and individuals have long sought a quick, simple, and inexpensive method of reproducing Braille in small editions. Research is being conducted at the present time on a process which it is hoped may neet the above need. The equipment consists of a regular 37-cell desk slate in which is inserted a double thickness of folded zinc plate .008″ thick, instead of the usual paper. Instead of using a regulation stylus, however, the dots are punched into the metal by means of a spring-driven nail-set, the point of which has been turned down to the shape and size of a stylus point, and the length of the handle cut down so that the tool can be held in the palm of the hand similar to writing with a stylus. A rough model of this device is on display at this meeting.

Talking Book Experimental Laboratory—An experimental laboratory has been set up for the purpose of conducting research into the procedures for processing records in order to establish better controls over Talking Book production. This should result in better quality plating, which in turn will result in not only higher fidelity of reproduction, but more efficient production because of the elimination of present losses due to inequalities in the processing procedures.

b. Items of tangible apparatus being developed and/or produced through agreements with other agencies or individuals comprise the following:

Kine Mltply Vizr—This device is an aid to mathematics designed as an incentive to learning the multiplication tables. squares and cubes through No. 12. It consists of a thick board, approximately 11 inches square, on which has been mounted a bright red plastic wheel embossed with the numbers and fitted with fluted edges for manual turning and a gear mechanism to position the wheel for reading. A sheet of heavy yellow paper is mounted over the face of the wheel and the base board with a v-shaped hole cut out at the top so that the Braille numbers can be read when the wheel has been turned to the proper position for the desired table. The device was invented for the seeing by Mr. G. Gilbert Scott of Los Angeles, with whom arrangements were made for adapting it for use by the blind and producing and distributing sets through the Printing House. The first lot of this device is now ready for distribution.

The Hoff Aid to Mathematics—This appliance is in the nature of an upward-writing slate, with a special line-index paper feed, for use in making mathematical calculations in Braille. It was invented by Mr. Paul Hoff, teacher in the Minnesota Braille and Sight-Saving School. The original models and some tooling were engineered by the K and G Manufacturing Company of Faribault. Arrangements have been made with the K and G Manufacturing Company and Mr. Hoff for the rights to further refine and manufacture the device as a Printing House product, and work is under way on preparing the remainder of the dies preparatory to going into actual production.

The Brown Braille Slate—This device, invented by Mr. Robert Brown, a blind man of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, consists of a regulation pocket slate to which has been added a narrow frame which will hold the paper in place so that the bottom, or pitted, half of the slate may be lifted back to enable the writer to check what he has written without having to remove the paper itself from the slate. The original model submitted by Mr. Brown has been redesigned and refined and a new model has been produced for exmination by the Superintendents for their evaluation of its use in the schools.

The Perkins Brailler—At the meeting of the superintendents last year, your Superintendent was directed to confer with Perkins Institution with a view to obtaining the rights to produce The Perkins Brailler at the Printing House so that this machine could be supplied to the schools and classes for the blind on quota accounts. Mr. Edward J. Waterhouse, Director of Perkins, has very generously cooperated with the Printing House in making such arrangements possible. However, it will be necessary for the Printing House to wait until the parts for the second lot of Perkins Braillers are in production before any parts will be available to us for assembly.

The Lavender Braillewriter—At the present time, there is no Braillewriter available in this country which will meet the demand for a small, lightweight machine. For many years, Mr. Raymond W. Lavender, of Binghamton, New York, has been working on the development of such a writer. The design of the Lavender writer is quite different from most Braillewriters, and will permit the use of a lightweight frame and a movable diebox, both of which result in the reduction in weight and size of the machine. During the past several months, the Printing House has been cooperating with Mr. Lavender in the final development of this new writer. It is our hope that this machine will prove to be the answer to the demand for a small, lightweight Braillewriter.

Relief Globe—For the past three years, the Printing House has been working with Panoramic Studios of Philadelphia in the development of a relief globe. In exchange for the use of Panoramic's original model of a world globe, which is approximately 30 inches in diameter, the Printing House has agreed to give Panoramic the commercial rights to such process as we might develop for the quantity manufacture of the globe from plastics. Developmental work on the plastic process has reached an advanced stage, but has had to be interrupted because of Mr. Lee's transfer to the position of Production Engineer. However, we have several men who are interested in and capable of continuing this project, and we feel sure that developmental work on the globe with get under way again at an early date.

Request for Increase in the Annual Appropriation

Since the passage of the amendment to the basic Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind" in May, 1952, it has been possible to obtain an increased annual appropriation for schoolbooks of a total of only $185,000 for both the 1952-1953 and the current 1953-1954 fiscal years because of the President's budget restrictions. In the face of rapidly increasing pupil enrollments in our schools and classes, however, an additional $10,000 for the 1954-1955 year has been requested. This additional amount—which would make a total appropriation of $195,000 for next year—is designed only to provide for the expected increase of some 350 pupils entering our schools next September at the present per capita rate of $28.31, and will not provide for the need for increased per capita funds. A request for an increase of only $10,000 is being made at this time because of assurances by the officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that only present minimum basic needs can be met. We will not know what the actual appropriation for next year will be until late in the spring of 1954.

Cooperation with Other Agencies

During the past year, the Printing House has joined with other organizations in a number of cooperative projects:

a. The recorded course of typing lessons, developed by the American Foundation for the Blind, with the accompanying materials in Braille and ink-print form, which was turned over to the Printing House for manufacture and distribution, has proved very popular. Over 250 sets have already been supplied to individuals, agencies and schools for the blind.

b. At the request of the Sub-Committee on Mathematics of the Joint Uniform Braille Committee of the AAIB and the AAWB, 115 copies of the proposed NEMETH CODE OF BRAILLE MATHEMATICS in both Braille and ink print, plus 85 copies of an elementary algebra written according to this code, at a cost of $5,043.94, have been provided to 13 schools and classes for the blind, in order that a practical evaluation of the system in use in the classroom might be obtained for the benefit of the Committee preparatory to an international conference on the adoption of a uniform system of Braille mathematical notation for the whole world.

c. We are in the process of manufacturing five new Braille stereotyping machines, at a cost of $3,500 each, for use in Brazil and Canada.

d. Two young ladies, from Mexico and Cuba respectively, have been with the Printing House since July, for a course of training in Braille printing plants, so that they can return to their own countries to set up such plants. The young lady from Cuba has come to us through the Lions Club of Havana, and the young lady from Mexico was sent on a joint scholarship from the Junior League of Mexico City and the Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Michigan, under the auspices of the American Foundation for Overseas Blind. Both have done excellent work, and we feel confident that they will go back to their countries well-prepared to execute their duties. In addition to the free training we have provided, we are furnishing at cost a complete pilot plant for Cuba, consisting of a rebuilt stereograph machine, rebuilt platen press, stitcher, plate-folding equipment, set of correcting tools, and other items. For the plant in Mexico, we are manufacturing, again at cost, only the plate-folding equipment, the other pieces of equipment being furnished through the American Foundation for Overseas Blind.

e. Negotiations are under way with the Library of Congress for a cooperative research project at the Printing House, which would also include the other Braille presses, for a study of new methods and procedures for the production of Braille books.

f. One project which has given us great satisfaction is a grant of $5,000 from The George F. Baker Trust of New York, to aid in the publication of The American Vest Pocket Dictionary, which is the first dictionary available in Braille Grade 2. The grant covers not only the cost of the plates, so that all copies are furnished at the printing and binding costs only, but enough money to subsidize (at the rate of $8.90 per copy) approximately 400 sets of the dictionary for students and other blind individuals in need of such a book and unable to pay the full cost of $18.90 for the 7-volume set. We are deeply grateful to The Baker Trust for this help.

In closing, I should like to thank the members of the Executive Committee and the ex-officio Trustees for their always thoughtful guidance and help, and our staff and employees for their loyalty, faithfulness, and efficiency in their work which help to make the Printing House an outstanding institution.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. Davis, Superintendent

CHARLES W. ALLEN

President, Board of Trustees — 1940-1954

Mr. Charles W. Allen, is serving his eighteenth year as a Trustee of the American Printing House for the Blind. During this time, he has served for fourteen years (1940-1954) as President of the corporation, a post which he has relinquished at his own request, consenting, however, to continue to serve as a Trustee.

A life-long citizen of Louisville, Mr. Allen rose to leadership in the community by earnest work. His modest manner, together with his sound judgment, sincerity, innate kindliness, and a feeling of obligation to public service, have caused him to be much in demand.

Mr. Allen began with the Belknap Hardware and Manufacturing Company in 1901, being Vice-President and General Manager at the time of his retirement in 1935. He has contributed much in the way of leadership as a Board member of many other successful business enterprises of Louisville.

During his term as President, the American Printing House for the Blind has greatly expanded in the way of both facilities and services in meeting the needs of the blind throughout the world. Mr. Allen has always exhibited a keen and sincere interest in the well-being of the staff and employees. It is, indeed, a fortunate institution which enjoys this type of leadership.

Before asking for approval of the Publications Committee Report, it was clearly explained by the Chairman of the Committee that, in approving his Report, the Board of Trustees was authorizing the staff of the American Printing House for the Blind to use THE NEMETH CODE OF BRAILLE MATHEMATICS in the production of all mathematics books which are published in the future under the auspices of the Publications Committee.

Upon motion of Dr. Thompson, seconded by Mr. Overbeay, and unanimously passed, the By-Laws of the American Printing House for the Blind were changed to read as follows:

> At the 1954 Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees, there shall be elected five members of the Publications Committee. Immediately after their election, they shall organize by selecting a Chairman and deciding among themselves the terms of office of the individual members for one to five years. In 1955, and succeeding years, one member only shall be elected each year for a term of five years, with the proviso that no member shall be eligible to succeed himself.

It was further moved by Dr. Thompson, seconded by Mr. Peeler, and passed, that a Committee on Educational Research and a Committee on Tangible Apparatus be elected on the same basis as outlined above for the Publications Committee, with the same number of members each, and terms of office to be handled in the same manner as designated above for the Publications Committee.

It was also recommended that these three Committees be authorized to select consultants or advisors to assist on matters pertaining to the work of the Committees on a non-fee basis.

Dr. Thompson placed in nomination the following members for the Committees, who were duly seconded and elected:

Mr. Langan presented to the Board of Trustees the following proposal with reference to proposed legislation to amend the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind," which was duly seconded and approved:

By action of the Board of Trustees of the American Printing House for the Blind in Annual called meeting, in Louisville, Kentucky, on November 9, 1954, the Superintendent is hereby directed to prepare and submit legislation to the next Congress which will amend the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." It is the desire of the Board of Trustees to broaden the present Act to make possible the distribution of books and materials on a quota basis to every blind student in the United States and its territorial possessions at the elementary and secondary level without regard to the school he attends. It is the thinking of the Trustees that, for the purpose of accounting, such children should be registered either through their respective residential schools for the blind or state departments of education.

The Trustees feel that such registration will reveal many additional students, according to a recent survey, who are not now presently sharing in the quota distribution of Federal funds under the Act. Therefore, at the next annual election of the Publications Committee, a state superintendent of public instruction registering a representative number of children shall be elected a member of said Committee to advise upon the selection and publication of textbooks. Also, to bring wider participation of public school officials dealing with day classes into the program of the Printing House, it is suggested that two other public school officials of state level be elected one each to membership on the Research Committee and the Tangible Apparatus Committee. This plan will provide continual public school representation in American Printing House for the Blind school services.

It is further directed by the Trustees that the Superintendent of the American Printing House for the Blind be authorized to seek a proportionate increase in the appropriation authorization to meet the needs of the increased number of children which it is anticipated will be registered under this plan.

Mr. Andrews, in presenting the slate of officers for nomination, made the following comment:

The Nominating Committee has been given to understand that Mr. Charles W. Allen does not wish to be renominated President of this Board. We believe we should respect his wish, but we deeply regret doing so. We want to express to him our sincere appreciation for the splendid leadership he has given to the Board and his interest in the American Printing House for the Blind. We are indeed pleased that he will, however, remain as a member of the Board.

The Nominating Committee submits the following slate for officers of the American Printing House for the Blind:

Mr. William C. Dabney, President

Mr. Robert Lambert, Vice-President

Mr. F. E. Davis, Secretary

First National Bank of Louisville, Treasurer

We further suggest that, since the By-Laws state that the Vice-President shall preside when the President is absent, and since the present Vice-President is not a member of the Executive Committee, that he be invited to attend all meetings of the Executive Committee.

Dr. Bryan seconded the nominations, and the slate of officers was unanimously elected for a period of one year.

Dr. Bryan made a motion, which was duly seconded and approved, that each year, at least thirty days prior to the Annual Meeting, the President shall appoint a Nominating Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. DAVIS, Secretary

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

November 9, 1954

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

During the year under report, your Executive Committee has concerned itself primarily with the problems of planning for the erection of the new administration building and renovation of the first and second floors of the old main building and west wing. As I should like you to know what we are attempting to accomplish, I shall confine my report largely to a description of the building operations and touch on other matters very briefly. I am a great believer in a short report and regret this one is as long as it is.

As reported last year, the original plans called for the razing of the old east storage wing, to be replaced by the new administration building. Later, it was decided that it would be more advantageous to retain the old wing as it is, and to erect an additional new wing of four stories and a basement to the front of the east wing and old main building, thereby not only saving the cost of razing the east wing, but also saving the space for storage, as well as providing a much-needed modernization of the front facade and entrance of the institution in the erection of the new wing itself.

Progress on the new building has been fairly rapid since ground was broken in early June, with all the main structural work now finished and only the interior finishing to be completed. The new building, which comprizes approximately 15,000 square feet, has been designed to provide for the consolidation of the Talking Book recording, dubbing and proof-reading department at the basement level, offices for the Superintendent and his secretary, the Braille and Large Type Editor and the general accounting and bookkeeping department on the street floor, offices for the Educational Research Department and the Production Engineer as well as a Board Room and space for the new tape recording program on the second floor, space for Talking Book Research and production on the third floor, and general storage on the fourth floor.

As soon as the new building is completed, and the transfer of personnel to new quarters can be effected, work will start on the renovation of the first and second floors of the old main building and west wing. Plans for changes in the original main building call for tearing out the old open wooden stairway from the first to third floors and closing off the space between floors, dropping the ceiling, leveling and covering floors with asphalt tile and redecorating the large room immediately to the rear of the present office of the Superintendent to provide an exhibition room, and revamping the rooms immediately above it into one large room for a library. The first floor of the west wing will be used for expanded facilities for the magazine circulation and fund-raising department, while the second floor, used for miscellaneous storage since the transfer of the Talking Book electroplating and pressing departments to the plant annex in 1948, will be done over to provide consolidated accommodations for the stereographing and Braille proofreading departments. The space presently occupied by the Braille stereograph department in the plant annex will be used to expand the machine shop and tangible apparatus departments. The provision of adequate administrative quarters, as well as the consolidation of activities in both the Talking Book recording and Braille embossing and proofreading departments, should greatly increase efficiency of production. The total cost for the erection of the new building and renovation of the old building, including the purchase of necessary new fixtures and equipment, will be approximately $250,000.

It is the pleasure of the Executive Committee to announce the adoption of two new policies for the benefit of our employees. The first is the institution of an all inclusive Blue Cross-Blue Shield and polio hospitalization plan for all employees. The plan adopted gives the widest possible coverage, providing complete hospitalization which includes all types of drugs, examinations, treatments, etc., the payment of doctor bills after the third day of illness, surgery, payment for treatments for the effect of poliomyelitis, etc. The cost of the plan is divided on the basis of 60 per cent to be paid by the Printing House and 40 per cent by the individual workers. Employees having families may include them at their own expense.

Here at the Printing House we feel justly proud of the long tenure of service of a large number of our employees. At the present time, 20 individuals have been continuously in the employ of the institution for over 20 years, of which 7 have been with us at least 30 years, 2 forty years, 1 forty-five. In recognition of these long years of faithful service, beginning with the summer just past, all employees with the Printing House for 20 or more years have been granted an additional week's paid annual vacation (for a total of three weeks.) In addition, a system of service awards has been instituted, beginning with 20 years of continuous employment, with additional awards at five-year intervals. The award is in the shape of a small gold pin shaped like an open Braille book, with the number of years of service indicated thereon. It is planned to make the awards annually as employees become eligible for the beginning 20-year award, or for rewards with each succeeding five years of service.

It is with regret that I must report that approximately $5,000 less in donations were received during the 1954 year than during the 1953 fiscal year, although the total amounted to $292,247.79. I believe, however, that this situation is a reflection of the general trend in fund-raising experienced by private philanthropic agencies throughout the country for the past year.

In closing, may I express to the ex-Officio Trustees, my fellow-members of the Executive Committee, Mr. Davis, and the entire staff my gratitude for your helpfulness and successful conduct of the affairs of the Printing House. As I will not be up for re-election for President for the American Printing House of the Blind for this coming year, I should like to take this occasion to say how much I have enjoyed meeting with the ex-Officio Trustees annually. It has been a great pleasure to know you.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES W. ALLEN, President

REPORT OF THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

November 9, 1954

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE
FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

Your Publications Committee has held two meetings on the 6th and 7th of November, 1954, and wishes to report action on the following items:

1. A request was received some months ago for the Printing House to print the Dewey Decimal Classification numbers on the spines of Braille library and fiction titles. The Printing House sent a questionnaire to the schools asking them to indicate if they desired this service. Some schools indicated little interest in the proposal, but a large number of requests for the change were received, and your Committee felt that this service should be made available on future publications.

2. The Printing House has been notified that the publishers of Story Parade will discontinue publication with the December, 1954, issue. This has been the principal fiction magazine for small children in the schools for the blind. Your Committee has requested the Printing House to communicate with the schools that have trained librarians to request suggestions as to a proper substitute for Story Parade which will best serve the children in the 4th through the 6th grades.

3. During the past year, the Nemeth Code of Braille Mathematics has been given a trial usage in a special edition of ALGEBRA: BOOK I, by Welchons and Krickenberger (Ginn). The trial period was followed by a discussion of its effectiveness at the Mathematics Workshop of the AAIB at Batavia last June. The experimental results have also been reviewed by the Sub-Committee on Mathematics of the Joint Uniform Braille Committee. The experimental schools and the study groups have recommended that the Nemeth Code be used in all mathematics books embossed in the future for the schools. The Publications Committee has approved this proposed action and wishes to request that the Board of Trustees take formal action authorizing the use of the Nemeth Code on all future publications where applicable.

4. On several occasions, superintendents of the schools have circularized other schools in an effort to persuade them to approve and order a particular title or series of new textbooks in order to be assured that the total orders received by the Printing House will equal the required minimum of 20 copies from not less than 5 schools. Your Publications Committee recognizes that there may be a need for this procedure in certain cases, but as a general practice feel that it may lead to undesirable results and suggest that, in the future, all superintendents try to avoid this practice and have their titles cleared in advance by the Publications Committee.

The requests for new materials received from the schools during recent weeks were reviewed by the Committee, and books were approved for tentative orders as follows:

1. Primary Workshop Recommendations:

The Primary Workshop group attending the AAIB Convention in Batavia examined three primary readers and a phonics book written at Perkins. These books were written for small children without reference to pictures which normally appear on the pages of textbooks designed for sighted children. The workshop group recommended that these books be made available, and your Committee approved their request. The Committee also received some reading readiness materials and recommended that they be made available to the schools. Your Committee has requested the Printing House to prepare samples of some of the materials and refer them to the schools for approval and recommendations for improvement.

2. Mathematics Workshop Recommendations:

The Mathematics Workshop group recommended the use of the Nemeth Code as indicated earlier. The group also recommended that Algebra: Book II and The Growth In Arithmetic Series: Grades III-VIII be approved. This would provide new materials for all elementary grades and a two-year course in algebra for high school in the Nemeth Code. It will be necessary to have a book in general mathematics for the ninth grade published, and the Committee approved Mathematics At Work and Making Mathematics Work (latest editions). It was felt that there should not be a new book in plane geometry this year, but this must be made available within the next two years.

3. Industrial Arts Workshop Recommendations:

The title INDUSTRIAL ARTS WOODWORKING was recommended by this group, and the Publications Committee approved the request.

4. Social Studies Workshop Recommendations:

Three long, encyclopedic-type books were recommended by this group. The Committee recognized the need for this material, but was aware of the fact that the cost would be high and the books would occupy enormous spaces on our shelves. It was agreed that the titles should be listed on the Tentative Order List, but the Printing House staff was asked to give some information as to the probable costs of each so that the schools would be fully aware of what they were ordering and the expenses involved.

5. English Workshop Recommendations:

For some years, the schools and the Publications Committee have felt a need for new materials in the field of literature, particularly for junior and senior high school students. The large anthologies now in use were embossed many years ago, and it would be very expensive to replace them. The AAIB Language Arts Workshop has appointed several committees at various grade levels to draw up lists of selected materials that may be published in Braille and large type in lieu of the present anthologies. The Publications Committee deferred action on anything in this field pending a report from this Workshop group.

In addition to the workshop recommendations, the Committee approved a generous number of individual titles recommended by the various schools and classes. These will appear on the tentative orders lists which will be sent to the schools in the near future.

Other items and fields of study covered were as follows:

a. Library Books and Fiction:

The Committee approved for tentative orders a series of books called "The Landmark Books" and the "World Landmark Books," also the series called "The Good Neighbor Series." In addition to these series, the Committee approved a miscellaneous list of titles which were found to be listed in the Wilson catalogs.

b. Classics and Old Favorites:

Last year, the Committee authorized the Brailling of a number of classics and old favorites which had formerly been available in Braille grade 1½. The schools have been requesting this material in grade 2 Braille, and a number of books were approved last year which are now in the process of production. The Committee added about 25 titles to this list, particularly recommended for use in the lower grades.

c. High Interest Level-Low Vocabulary Materials:

Mr. Ashcroft, of the Printing House Staff, prepared a list of books of high reading level-low vocabulary level. Your Publications Committee has recommended that all of these books be placed on tentative order lists to be submitted to the schools for orders.

d. Talking Book Recommendaions:

During recent months, a new service by the Printing House has been started. This is the production of tape recordings for use in the schools. There is a probability of some overlapping in this field with the former production of Talking Book records. In view of this situation, it was felt by the Publications Committee that it would be unwise to approve additional books for Talking Book recording at this time. During the next few months, after the schools have had an opportunity to study the effect of the tape recording program, the Committee can give further consideration to Talking Book orders.

e. Braille Music.

Most of the music recommended to the Committee came from the AAIB Music Workshop group. It was felt that the entire list should be submitted to the schools for orders, and the Committee has taken action accordingly.

Mr. Chairman: Your Committee has submitted its report, and I make the motion that the report be accepted and that the Board of Trustees of the Printing House authorize the staff to use the Nemeth Code in the production of all mathematics books which are published in the future under the auspices of the Publications Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF THE EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH COMMITTEE

November 9, 1954

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE
FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Educational Research Committee met in the office of the Superintendent at 8:00 p.m., Saturday, November 6, 1954, with the following members present:

R. H. Thompson, Chairman

J. W. Lysen

D. W. Overbeay

Neal F. Quimby

Edward J. Waterhouse

Also present were Mr. Davis, Superintendent, and Mr. Samuel Ashcroft, Director of Educational Research, of the American Printing House.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. Thompson, and Mr. Ashcroft was asked to read the Annual Report of the Department of Educational Research. After a thorough discussion, it was accepted and appended to the minutes of the meeting.

D. W. Overbeay, Superintendent of the Iowa Braille and Sight Saving School, was appointed Secretary of the Committee.

The Director of Educational Research, Mr. Ashcroft, was directed to present an oral report of the activities of the department to the general meeting of superintendents at 10:30 a.m., Monday morning, November 8th. The Secretary was directed to present a report of the meeting of the Committee to the Trustees in formal meeting, Tuesday, 12:15 p.m., at the Pendennis Club.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Ashcroft were encouraged to prepare a progress report to be distributed to the residential schools and other interested groups. The Director of the Educational Research Department was encouraged to invite any or all schools and other sources to participate in those projects approved by the Committee.

The following research projects were endorsed by the Committee:

1. Development and standardization of the Braille grade II mastery tests.
2. Investgation and development of resource units.
3. The coordination of workshop conferences on a regional basis with the AAIB.

New Projects:

1. The Director of the Educational Research Department was asked to investigate further the area of vocational information in occupation and vocational counseling.
2. The Committee urged each school to cooperate with the Director in naming a research liason person in every residential school for the blind.

Further suggestions:

1. Mr. Waterhouse suggested that research in the area of "facial vision" and "plastic forming" for raised surfaces would be helpful to the AAIB schools.

Respectfully submitted,

D. W. OVERBEAY, Secretary

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

November 9, 1954

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE
FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

Following is a summary of the activities of the Printing House during the past year:

PRODUCTION

By and large, production for the 1954 fiscal year was about the same as the year before. Although there were appreciable increases in the amounts of goods produced and delivered more or less all along the line, no spectacular new goals were reached. During the year 1953-54 distribution of quota sales were as follows: Braille books, educational periodicals and music, 58.43%; tangible apparatus, Braille slates, Braillewriters, maps, etc., 12.6%; Talking Books 5.66%; and large type books 20.81%; 2.5% was used for miscellaneous items. Quota sales amounted to 23.5% of total sales. Distribution of sales other than quota sales were as follows: Braille 35.38%; Talking Books 54.29%; large type books 2.78%; tangible apparatus 5.29%; miscellaneous items 2.26%.

Actually, there is a need for a far greater production in most departments than we have been able to achieve, mainly because of lack of space, or because make-shift arrangements have had to be made in order to keep all departments running during the process of erecting the new building. For instance, it has not been possible to take over some of the space in the storage building for the printing and binding departments, because it was necessary to set up a temporary recording studio on the basement floor of this building, during the process of erecting the new administration building, since both present studios were located in the front of the old administration building and subject to the noises of the building operation. In order to meet the increased need for Braille textbooks, therefore, it has been necessary to institute a daily and Saturday overtime schedule in the printing and binding departments for several months, in order that necessary textbooks could be made available to the schools as soon as possible. It is expected that, by the end of this month, most orders for basic materials will have been shipped to the schools and classes.

Last summer at the Batavia Convention of the AAIB, I announced a plan whereby reprints of less than five copies of Braille books urgently needed by individual schools and classes would be produced promptly, provided said schools were willing to pay the extra cost of the small editions. It has not been possible to put this projected program into operation simply because all of our printing and binding equipment has been hard put, at an accelerated overtime schedule, to get out the large demand for basic text materials. Just as soon as this large demand is met, however, requests for individual texts in quantities of one or two copies will be filled.

A very real problem has developed during the past year in the large print department. A large proportion of the books adopted for publication proved to be difficult of reproduction in that the original ink-print format was such that direct page-for-page blow-ups of the original copy would have made the pages so large as to be too unwieldy for use by the average child. It has been necessary, therefore, to add considerably to our staff of lay-out technicians, whose job is to restrip the blown-up negatives into new page formats. Unfortunately, this means that, not only is the cost of the printing plates increased, but also the time required for their production. It is our feeling, however, that the results obtained are well worth the extra time and costs involved.

It is with regret that we must report that not as many new basic text materials in Braille and large type were produced during the 1954 fiscal year as should normally have been. Unfortunately, a large number of the books approved for publication proved to be those for which it was difficult to obtain permission to reprint, or which, upon investigation, were found to be in the process of revision by the ink-print publishers, and it seemed wiser to wait for the new editions. With the exception of a number of literature anthologies, most permissions were finally obtained for both Braille and large type printing, but several series will remain unavailable for Braille and large type editions until the new revisions are issued by the ink-print publishers.

FEDERAL APPROPRIATION

Perhaps the most effective accomplishment of the year has been the increase in the appropriation under the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." Following the increase in the authorization in 1952, the annual grant was enlarged to only $185,000 for the first two fiscal years, in spite of repeated and earnest requests. It was not until the budget for the current fiscal year was presented to Congress that both the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and the Congress became convinced of the very real straits in which the schools and classes were placed for lack of money to meet the enlarged demands caused by advanced costs and rapidly rising enrollments. The appropriation for the 1954-1955 fiscal year, as you all know, provides a total of $215,000, based on an approximate $30 per capita for each child registered under the Act. I am happy to report that, in keeping with this same per capita base, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare has approved for submission to the Bureau of Budget a request of $234,000 for the 1956 fiscal year, to meet the conservative estimated increase in enrollments next year of between 700 and 800 children.

Since your meeting in 1952, you as Trustees, and the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, have been considering the possibilities of providing services under the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind" to blind children other than those now registered in the schools and classes for the blind. So far, it has not been possible to determine an effective plan to accomplish this purpose. It is my hope that the Board of Trustees at this meeting will approve a possible workable plan of legislation to be presented to Congress to accomplish this objective. The addition of one or two thousand more children immediately to the roster would require an increase in the annual appropriation in excess of the present basic authorization of $265,000, if we are to keep the per capita at the present $30 rate. Further, there is also the problem of administration and distribution on an equable basis.

NEW PROGRAM OF SERVICE

As was announced last year, our Department of Educational Research got under actual way with the appointment of a full-time Director on a 10-month basis. A report of the work of this department has already been given by the Committee on Educational Research. Aside from pure research, however, a new service program to the schools has been instituted through the efforts of our Research Director, Mr. Samuel C. Ashcroft, in the form of educational tape recordings. Arrangements have been made with the University of Minnesota and others to furnish the Printing House with master tapes for quantity reproduction of programs for use as auxiliary aural classroom aids in our schools and classes, to be furnished through the Federal allotments. This department is just getting organized, and quantity production should be effected within the next several weeks. The effectiveness of our Department of Educational Research as a whole will, of course, take time to prove itself, but I am pleased with progress made during the past year under the direction of Mr. Ashcroft.

TANGIBLE APPARATUS

The Printing House started out very simply as a publishing institution. As a service agency for the schools and classes for the blind, however, its services have expanded in many directions. One of these is the manufacture of tangible apparatus or educational aids. Originally, this activity was confined to the manufacture of maps and slates and styluses. The number of items, quantity of production, and need for new aids has increased rapidly during the past ten years, however, until it would seem wise that this department be given the benefit of a guiding committee, such as we have for publications and research. In line with this thinking therefore, it is respectfully requested that a Committee on Tangible Apparatus be appointed or elected by the Board of Trustees at this meeting, consisting of five members whose duties shall be to confer with the Superintendent and staff in the adoption, design, and manufacture of such items for the benefit of the schools and classes. It is suggested that the membership of this Committee be established on a rotating basis, such as has been adopted for the Publications and Research Committees of the Board of Trustees.

It is with a great deal of satisfaction and pleasure that I can announce that during the past year research and tooling up for production of the relief globe, plastic relief plaques of the continents and the Hoff Aid have been completed and all of these aids are now in production. Printed brochures describing many of our aids have been prepared during the year and are now ready for release.

COOPERATION WITH THE FIELD

During the past several months, the Printing House has been conducting a program of research looking to improved methods and standardization in Braille printing processes. This program of research is being conducted under the sponsorship of the Library of Congress (by which it is also being financed), and with the direct cooperation of all the presses doing work for the Library, plus such other interested agencies as the American Foundation for the Blind, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the Royal National Institute for the Blind of England. It is hoped that this program of research will prove to be one of the most far-reaching ever conducted in the field. The objectives of the program include:

> Improving the quality of Braille printing and of Braille publications and increasing their acceptability by the blind.
> The standardization of methods of Braille production and the standardization of Braille printing itself throughout the industry.
> The reduction of costs by the application of principles, methods and materials which have been generally applied in the printing and allied fields, and thereby making such materials available on a much wider basis.

In addition to the Braille research program, the Printing House has cooperated in a similar research program for Talking Books being conducted by the staff of the American Foundation for the Blind, also under the sponsorship of the Library of Congress.

Again it is my pleasure to call to the attention of the trustees the high calibre of our administrative staff members, namely, Mr. Virgil E. Zickel, Plant Manager; Miss Marjorie S. Hooper, Braille and Large Type Editor; Mr. Samuel C. Ashcroft, Educational Research; Mr. Richard M. Lee, Production Engineer; Miss Jane T. Kent, Office Manager; and Miss Hazel V. Maffet, Magazine Department and Secretary to the Superintendent. This group not only contributes much to the success of the American Printing House, but in many instances they are called upon to serve on some of the most important committees in the field of education and work for the blind in this country. The participation of our staff members in such strategic positions in the field adds much to the prestige of the American Printing House as well as to the effectiveness of the individuals themselves in their day to day labors for the institution.

In closing I should like to express my sincere thanks to Mr. Allen and the other members of the Executive Committee, the ex-officio Trustees and to our staff and all employees for their constant aid and support. Without this continued interest very little could be accomplished.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. DAVIS, Superintendent

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

October 25, 1955

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

On behalf of your Executive Committee, I am happy to present my first report as President of the American Printing House for the Blind. It has been my pleasure to spend a considerable amount of time during the year at the Printing House, consulting with Mr. Davis and his staff, in order that I might become more familiar with the work of the institution. The many facets of activity conducted by the Printing House interest me greatly, and I feel fortunate, indeed, to be a part of its meritorious services to the blind.

The completion of the new administration building and renovation of parts of the old main building and west wing are an accomplishment of justifiable pride to your Committee. Spacious and beautiful quarters have been provided for the administrative personnel, as well as the Braille and Talking Book embossing, recording and proofreading departments, not to mention an adequate room for Board meetings. The addition of new and modern equipment has also added measurably to the efficiency of our workers. There still remains the renovation of the rooms evacuated by those departments which have been transferred to new locations, to provide for necessary expansion in plant operation. Consideration is also being given to refurbishing the first floor of the west wing (now occupied by the fund-raising and magazine circulation department) and to removing the lunchroom, if possible, to a more central location for all departments, thus again leaving space for needed expansion in the printing and binding departments. For the benefit of those who may wonder at the apparent never-ending need to expand and renovate our buildings and equipment, may I point out that, in the past eight years alone, the Printing House has increased its annual receipts from $573,000 to $1,257,000. In a fast-growing industrial community such as Louisville, with a consequent tight labor market, this expansion has been possible only through the construction of adequate facilities and the introduction of modern, efficient equipment and procedures.

During the next two days, the Printing House staff and employees will be hosts to an Open House for workers of the blind and the general public. Invitations have been sent out to the Formal Opening and Tour to be held tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 2:00 o'clock, and it is hoped that as many as possible of the Ex-officio Trustees will be able to stay over to attend. A general Open House for the citizens of Louisville will be held the following day.

The adoption of the $1.00 Minimum Wage Law by the last session of Congress will result in a considerable increase in costs of production for the Printing House. By and large, we draw the bulk of our employees from the general labor market. This means that, not only will the minimum wage for new and inexperienced employees have to be set at $1.00 per hour, but consideration must also be given to adjustments for experienced and technical employees in more advanced wage brackets on the basis of relative merit and efficiency. Present estimates would indicate an immediate over-all increase in the total wage cost of the Printing House of a little under 14 per cent when the new $1.00 minimum wage becomes effective March 1, 1956. In anticipation of the change, your Executive Committee decided to make our wage increases in two steps, on September 1, 1955, and February 1, 1956, respectively, so that they would be in full force when the law takes effect. To meet the increased costs of production, in not only our own wage scale, but also in the costs of raw material, new price schedules on all Printing House products will be adopted as of January 1, 1956. New catalogs for all departments are now in the process of publication, for distribution the first of the year.

In spite of necessary make-shift arrangements during the new construction and renovation period, our staff and employees have maintained a high level of production, and employee morale is excellent. It is the feeling of your Executive Committee that this condition is due, not only to the provision of comfortable and efficient facilities, but also to the security provided by the retirement and health and hospitalization plans instituted during the last few years. One of the highlights of the year for your Committee was the dinner on December 14th last, at which twenty employees of from 20 to 45 years of service were given service awards. As is customary, Mr. Davis, our Superintendent, will present a much more detailed report of our year's work in his report.

After 29 years of service, Mr. Stuart Duncan resigned from the Board of Trustees and Mr. Charles R. Bottorff, Chairman of the Board of the Belknap Hardware & Manufacturing Company, was elected to succeed him. I am sure that because of Mr. Bottorff's broad business experience, he will make a valuable contribution to the institution.

In closing, may I express to the Ex-officio Trustees the appreciation of myself and my fellow-members of the Executive Committee for your professional help in the conduct of the affairs of the Printing House. To Mr. Davis and the entire staff I extend my heartiest congratulations for a difficult and successful year well done.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM C. DABNEY, President

REPORT OF THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

October 25, 1955

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE
FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

When the Publications Committee held its sessions in the fall of 1954, it was evident that there was not sufficient time to discuss all of the problems before the Committee. In particular, there was not sufficient time to make plans for some general changes in procedure which were considered necessary. In order to meet this need, the members of the Committee returned to the Printing House for a two-day session in February, 1955. At this meeting, the Committee prepared plans for following a new procedure in the selection of textbooks. This plan essentially employed three steps:

In the first step, the Committee and the Printing House communicated with the schools to ask for suggestions as to specific subject fields for which there was the greatest need of texts at this time. In the past, it has been necessary for the Publications Committee to determine the fields in which books were needed, and it was felt that the program would be more effective if we could have an evaluation of the subject fields from the classrooms throughout America.

The second step under the new program called for a summarization of the replies from the schools and an evaluation of the recommendations and comments. On the basis of the recommendations from the various schools, the Committee decided that the most urgent need in the elementary grades was for literary type readers. In the high school, the Committee decided that new texts were needed in the fields of civics, general science, economics, guidance and English composition and grammar. The teachers, principals, and superintendents were all notified that new books would be made available in these fields, and the schools were asked to examine all available books in the United States and to make recommendations as to specific titles desired. The schools were given a period of six weeks in which to study the books available and to make recommendations. After the replies were received from the schools, the Printing House opened negotiations with the publishing houses to obtain permissions for embossing and printing large type editions of the recommended titles.

The third step in the new program was inaugurated yesterday by the Publications Committee, when they approved the titles which had been chosen, and authorized that the schools be instructed to place orders at once. It is anticipated that the orders for these books will be received within the next two weeks and that the Printing House will begin immediately the job of embossing and printing all of the titles so that they may be ready for delivery by the first of August of 1956.

Perhaps it would be of some value to point out briefly the differences in the procedure followed here to that which has been followed prior to the current year. In the past, it has been customary for the Printing House to notify the schools that the Printing House was ready to receive recommendations for textbooks, library books, fiction, etc. The schools responded by sending in miscellaneous lists of titles, which in many cases, varied so much from school to school that it was very difficult for the Publications Committee to determine which titles were the most popular and in the greatest need. Under the new plan, teachers are given an opportunity to indicate in advance the textbooks which are weakest in their inventories. After these weak points are determined, all efforts on the part of the Printing House, the Publications Committee and the teachers are directed towards the selection and procuring of new books to fill the weak categories in the catalog.

During the last few years, the Library of Congress has been awarding contracts to the Printing House for juvenile fiction on Talking Book records. Copies of all of these books are made available to the teachers and librarians in our schools, and it is felt that they adequately fill the need for such material. Because of this program from the Library of Congress, the Publications Committee has not approved any Talking Books for publication for a period of two years.

No additional music books were approved by the Committee because a large list was presented from the AAIB Music Workshop group last year, and the Printing House is in the process of producing these selections which will require at least twelve more months to complete.

The Committee agreed that a new procedure should be tried, on an experimental basis, for the selection of library books. Under this plan, the librarians will be asked to give advice as to the Dewey Decimal categories in our Braille catalog which are in the greatest need at the present time. After these particular areas have been determined, selected groups of starred and double-starred books from THE CHILDREN'S CATALOG and THE HIGH SCHOOL CATALOG will be sent to the schools for orders. It is hoped that this procedure will help to produce a better balance in library books for the schools. In the past, it has been customary to rely largely on the orders of the Library of Congress for library materials. Such orders from the Library have leaned heavily towards fiction and biography. This represents only a part of the broad coverage necessary for a well-balanced library. The new plan will be attempted during the fall of 1955 on an experimental basis, and will be evaluated for favorable results at a later date.

The staff of the Printing House reported to the Publications Committee that the production of large type books in the upper grades was unsatisfactory financially because of the large inventories which are being manufactured and the small number of orders which have been received for the books. The problem was presented to the superintendents' group for discussion, and the Publications Committee was instructed to continue to supply large type books for all textbooks, but the Printing House was given approval to decrease the quantity, where necessary, of books printed in large type, and to increase proportionally the cost per copy in order to avoid financial loss in the production of such books. The superintendents indicated that it was not necessary to produce large type books for some semi-basal texts, such as INDUSTRIAL ARTS WOODWORKING. The Publications Committee will try to give this consideration as titles for the upper grades are considered in the future.

REPORT OF EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH COMMITTEE

October 25, 1955

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The Educational Research Committee of the American Printing House for the Blind met at the Printing House at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, October 23, 1955, with the following members present:

Dr. Neal F. Quimby

Mr. Hugo F. Schunhoff

Mr. D. W. Overbeay

Also present were Mr. Finis E. Davis, Superintendent of the Printing House, and Mr. Samuel C. Ashcroft, Director of Educational Research.

In the absence of Mr. Edward Waterhouse, Dr. Quimby was appointed Temporary Chairman, and Mr. Overbeay was appointed Acting Secretary.

Mr. Ashcroft read the Annual Report of the Educational Research Director. The report was accepted as read and made a permanent part of the Minutes.

Mr. Ashcroft was directed to discuss the report at a general meeting of superintendents at 9:00 a.m., Monday morning, the 24th. The Acting Secretary was directed to present a report of the Committee to the Trustees in formal meeting, Tuesday, October 25th, at 12:15 p.m., at the Pendennis Club, Louisville.

The Committee recommended that work on the following projects be continued:

1. The analysis of reading difficulties in the direction of the study of Braille reading errors.

2. Braille vocational information as it pertains to blind boys and girls.

3. Projects in the field of testing.

4. The Library of Congress Braille Research Program.

5. Projects recommended by liaison personnel from the schools.

6. Such projects as the Printing House Committee on Educational Research may suggest during the course of the coming year.

The advisability of establishing a research library at the Printing House, and of mailing bi-monthly bulletins on the progress of the Research Department to the Trustees, was discussed and left to the discretion of Mr. Davis.

The Committee believes that the establishment of a Department of Educational Research at the American Printing House for the Blind to be one of the most forward-looking steps ever taken. Further, the Committee wishes to commend Mr. Davis and Mr. Ashcroft for the progress made in the area of educational research since the last formal meeting of the Trustees.

Respectfully submitted,

D. W. OVERBEAY, Acting Secretary

REPORT OF THE TANGIBLE APPARATUS COMMITTEE

October 25, 1955

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

It is a pleasure to report on the activities of the Tangible Apparatus Committee formed at the request of the Board of Trustees at the last Annual Meeting held November 9, 1954.

The need for such a committee grew out of problems the American Printing House has encountered for many years in the proper selection of tangible apparatus or educational aids. It was felt there was room for improvement in this area and that a real effort should be made to secure new ideas for aids, possibly improve design of present apparatus, and encourage the use of this available equipment.

This is also in accord with the desire of the Printing House to expand its efforts and services in the field of tangible apparatus. As a result of these problems and evident need for study, evaluation, and research in this area, a Tangible Apparatus Committee was formed and met Sunday evening, October 23, 1955, with the following members present:

Frank Johns, Jr., Chairman

V. R. Carter

W. C. Gill

E. W. Tillinghast

EVALUATION: The entire work of the Committee during the past year consisted almost entirely of the evaluation of five aids which were circulated among the schools of the respective superintendents serving on the Committee. Comments concerning the aids by the members were sent to the Chairman who in turn wrote summary reports which he sent on to the Printing House.

The Committee evaluated five aids: Two writing boards, a multi-aid, a Pic Peg Game, and a plastic map. Of these five aids, the Pic Peg Game and a plastic map were approved for possible production in the light of proposed changes.

It was also recommended that developmental work be continued on the Lavender Braillewriter. This writer is in excellent one which should be economical to manufacture.

PUBLIC RELATIONS: A display of apparatus, aids, etc., is being planned by the Printing House for the 1956 AAIB Convention. Possible demonstrations are also being investigated. It was also recommended that suitable exhibits from other agencies and organizations be a part of the Convention.

In the meantime, the schools will be asked to acquaint their staffs more thoroughly with the aids which are now available. Regional meetings and other means of stimulating interest are being considered. A necessary study and survey will be made to determine what contribution can be made in this area.

RESEARCH: A survey and study is being planned to determine what contribution can be made in this area.

EXISTING EQUIPMENT: A survey and study is being made to review types of equipment now being used and to determine what action is needed here.

These and other projects are being considered by the Committee for action in the near future, and it is hoped the Committee can be of real service to the Printing House and schools in this respect.

We would like to thank the American Printing House for the excellent service it now gives the schools in the educational aids which are now available. The Committee would also like to express its appreciation for the guidance given by the Printing House staff during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK JOHNS, JR., Chairman

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

October 25, 1955

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND

Gentlemen:

The 1955 fiscal year was an unusually successful year for the Printing House, with production and deliveries, as well as the completion of new projects, far in excess of any previous year. It is with considerable pride, therefore, that I present the following summary of the year's activities:

PRODUCTION

During the 1955 year, a record-breaking $238,000 worth of books and materials were delivered to the schools and classes, an increase of $53,000 over the previous year. Approximately $139,000 of this comprised Braille books, magazines and music, $11,000 Talking Books, $41,000 large type books, and $41,500 tangible apparatus and the like, the remainder being spent for shipping expense. In like fashion, materials supplied to agencies and individuals other than the quota schools amounted to nearly $669,000, an increase of $67,000 over the 1954 year. Increases were achieved in all departments, but mainly in the production of Braille, Talking Books, and tangible apparatus. One of the most effective results of this increased production has been the fact that, during the early spring months when the schools send in few orders, it was possible to anticipate the requirements for annual book orders and go forward with their production at that time, so that a large percentage of the required books were available for shipment when the orders were received. The result has been that, not only were the costs of handling the large annual orders materially reduced, but the books were on hand in the schools when classes convened this fall.

NEW BUILDING

The erection of the new administration building, which has been eagerly anticipated for so many years, was completed during the year. It is hard to express to the Board the pleasure and increased interest in our work which the beautiful and adequate surroundings and modern equipment have afforded both the employees and myself. Aside from the lack of air-conditioning no one could ask for anything better. The move to the new building was accomplished in orderly fashion during the early spring, and the renovation of the old quarters vacated by the administrative and Talking Book editorial and recording personnel has been under way ever since. In addition, new quarters for the Braille embossing and proofreading departments have been provided on the second floor of the west wing, and the large central room of the old administration building has been made into a combination lounge and exhibit room for the benefit of visitors. Facilities vacated by the stereotyping department in the annex will be used by the tangible apparatus department and the machine shop.

Plans are under consideration for the renovation of the west wing of the first floor in keeping with the redecorated exhibit room for use of the magazine circulation and fund-raising departments. In addition there is very great need for additional space for the printing and bindery departments in the factory annex, which could be accomplished by providing a new and more centrally located lunchroom, possibly through the erection of an additional story over the old Braille plate storage vault, now used for the storage of finished stock. It is the hope of the staff that these changes can be effected in the near future.

RESEARCH

Library of Congress Braille Research Project — The program of research looking to improved methods and standardization in Braille printing processes, undertaken last year for the Library of Congress, in cooperation with the other Braille presses, was continued during the 1955 fiscal year. At this time, two phases of the program are in the testing period. These consist of: 1. Special adaptations of Perkins Braillers and the new APH stereotyping machine designed to complete the plate-making process by the production of master punched tapes which will be used to automatically direct the embossing of the metal plates; and 2. The determination of the best Braille dot spacing (as between dots within the Braille cell, between cells in the same line, and between lines, as well as full interpointing as opposed to the present half-cell interpointing). Tests on a representative sample of Braille readers are now being conducted under the direction of our Department of Educational Research by the Department of Psychology of the University of Kentucky. The purpose of these tests, as well as the designing of new embossing procedures, is to try to find the best procedures and dot specifications for the most pleasurable and effective results for the Braille reader.

Educational Research — In addition to working on the psychological phase of the Library of Congress Braille Research Project, the Department of Educational Research has been occupied with the development of procedure and devices for the diagnosis of Braille reading difficulties, the preparation of several sets of subject matter resource units, and surveys of research literature in the areas of curricular provisions in residential schools and Braille reading. On the basis of the data resulting from the Regional Meeting on Achievement Testing held at the Kentucky School in the fall of 1954, work has progressed on the adaptation of the Stanford Achievement Tests Forms J and K which, for the first time, will include the Primary and Elementary Batteries, as well as the Intermediate and Advanced. Much work has also been done in cooperation with those working on the Diagnostic Reading Tests and the Braille Learning Aptitude Test. Perhaps the most significant accomplishment has been the initiation of the arrangement whereby one individual teacher in each school, usually the principal, is designated as the liaison person to whom all problems of research conducted by the Printing House for the schools are to be referred. A most successful two-day meeting of liaison representatives from 17 schools and Printing House personnel was held earlier this month, at which meeting suggestions were made and studies projected on needed research for the schools.

TANGIBLE APPARATUS

During the year, four new items of tangible apparatus were put into production and deliveries made to the schools and others. These consisted of the plastic relief globe (on which research was conducted for a number of years), thin plastic plaques of the various global areas taken from the globe itself, the Hoff Aid for mathematics, and the Brown slate. All of these aids are proving popular and useful. In addition to the above new items, the Howe Press of Perkins has been able to put into execution its promise to supply the Printing House with sub-assemblies of a few hundred Perkins Braillers, so that the final assembly could be accomplished by our own employees under their direction, and over 100 have already been supplied to the schools and classes on quota accounts at a cost of $90.00 each, plus the shipping charges. In view of the expanding needs of the tangible apparatus department, the quarters vacated by the stereotyping department will be of real value in providing proper space for projected projects, such as the manufacture of the Lavender Braillewriter, and other items.

LARGE TYPE

With each year, the production of large type books becomes an increasing burden on the finances and facilities of the Printing House, without a sufficiently appreciable growth in the distribution of these materials to offset the accumulating costs as well as the taxing of our storage space. To aggravate the situation, the production program does not meet the needs of the schools for paralleling Braille and large type textbooks. Production-wise the problems are two-fold: The offset printing process, which so far has been the best method of reproduction of this type of book yet devised, is time-consuming and expensive. Further, this process necessitates large production runs of 150 to 200 copies minimum, resulting in some instances in the storage of books for some three to four years before a single printing edition is exhausted. How extensive this problem can be is easily realized when I report to you that our inventory of stored large type books as of June 30th last amounted to over $146,000 as opposed to $67,000 worth of Braille books, although only some $41,000 worth of large type books were supplied last year as opposted to a total of $116,000 Braille books. This problem has been referred to the Publications Committee and is being given careful study.

INCREASED CATALOG PRICES

Due to the passage of the increased Minimum Wage Law by Congress last spring, as well as to advancing costs in raw materials, it will be necessary to adjust the catalog prices on all of our products. A thorough study of the effects of the advance in wage and material costs on all items of manufacture has been made, and it is our decision to make catalog price increases on a departmental basis, since there will be a wide variation in cost increases in the different departments. Unfortunately, the Braille printing and binding department will be the hardest hit, which means that price adjustments will have to be made in largest measure on Braille books and magazines. It was the decision of the Executive Committee to make the wage adjustments in two partial jumps, the first on September 1st and the second on February 1st. New price schedules, however, will be put into effect as of January 1, 1956, and revised catalogs of all our books and apparatus are now in preparation for distribution at that time.

FEDERAL APPROPRIATION AND LEGISLATION

For the year just passed, Congress approved an appropriation of $215,000 for quota purposes. For the current fiscal year, the appropriation is $234,000, which was based on a slightly higher anticipated enrollment than was actually realized. For the 1957 fiscal year, a budget request for $243,600 has been requested, based on a $30 per capita for an anticipated 8,120 pupil registration as of January 2, 1956. This anticipated enrollment was projected on the basis of the replies to the survey of the schools made during the summer asking for information on expected enrollments during the current school year. At the present time, the Budget Office is desirous of deducting from our request of $243,000 the $8,400 excess appropriation for the current fiscal year over and above a $30 per capita. Every effort is being made to point out the need for an increase in the appropriation, in view of past delays in increasing the appropriation as needed to meet school populations, as well as the known additional production costs because of the increased minimum wage.

Legislation was introduced during the last Congress looking to the amendment of the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind" to make provision for all blind school children. It was not possible to get this legislation out of Committee during the last session, but it is hoped that it will be favorably considered immediately after Congress convenes in January, 1956.

In closing, may I extend to Mr. Dabney and the other members of the Executive Committee, to the Ex-officio Trustees, and to the staff members and employees, my sincere appreciation for their help in making this a successful year. Without all of your help and understanding, very little could be accomplished. May I also voice the hope that as many as possible of you will be able to stay over and attend the Formal Opening of our new building tomorrow.

Respectfully submitted,

F. E. DAVIS, Superintendent

APH Talking Book Reproducer Model L-5

Manufactured by the

The American Printing House For The Blind

1839 Frankfort Avenue

Louisville 6, Kentucky

The APH Model L-5 Talking Book Reproducer is a three-speed machine which will play 33-1/3, 45 and 78 r.p.m. The machine is a portable model weighing 21 pounds (26 pounds packed for shipment). The wooden frame is covered with imitation leather. The speaker is mounted in the cover which is detachable from the bottom with a sufficient length of cord so that it can be placed as much as 8 feet distance from the machine itself.

This model machine has been provided with a Model 99-80-S turnover ceramic reproducer cartridge, so that it is suitable for use in all types of climate. The cartridge is equipped with dual sapphire needles so that it can play effectively both the older type wide-grooved Talking book records as well as the newer fine-line microgroove records. The needle-change lever (No. 1) is found on the pick-up arm at the location of the cartridge. When this lever is pointing toward the center of the record, it is adjusted for the new fine-groove records. When the older records are played, the needle-change lever should be pushed downward and up on the side of the arm away from the center of the record. With moderate care and usage, these needles will last for several years. If the needles become damaged, they can be replaced at a nominal cost by any local radio service company. (Use either the needle for Model 9980-S Sonotone cartridge or Jansen needle S-66). Needles can also be ordered from the Printing House (price $1.85 postpaid). However, it is always well to have a local radio repair man make the actual replacement of the needle cartridge.

The Model L-5 is designed to operate on 110-120 volts, 60 cycles, A.C. current only. The power consumption is 70 watts. A fuse (No. 2) receptacle is located on the motorboard. If replacement of fuse should be necessary, use only an AGC-1, 250-volt fuse. One spare fuse is supplied with each new machine, to be found in the open receptacle on the motorboard when the machine is shipped.

There are four controls (for numbers, refer to picture):

a. Volume control (No. 3)—This knob controls the loudness of the speaking. It also turns off the power when turned to the maximum counterclockwise position. It should always be in this position when the reproducer is not in use.

b. Toggle switch (No. 4)—This is used to stop the turntable when changing records. It does not turn off the power to the amplifier.

c. Tone control (No. 5)—The right-hand knob. Turn the knob clockwise to increase depth of voice, counterclockwise to obtain higher frequencies of voice.

d. Turntable speed lever (No. 6)—This is located at the left of the turntable. Speeds of 33-1/3, 45 and 78 r.p.m., as well as "off", are indicated. When the machine is not in use for a long period of time, this lever should be turned to the "off" position. Intermediate speeds are not available. (A plastic bushing is provided to adapt the turntable to 45 r.p.m.)

A jack (No. 7) for a speaker plug is located on the motorboard. Earphones for use with this machine should be purchased from a local radio store (or at the APH—price $4.25 postpaid), if it is desired to substitute earphones for the speaker. Such earphones must be equipped with a plug (Mallory Catalog No. 75 or equivalent).

All Model L-5 machines can be used in the tropics, semitropics, or locations where high heat and humidity are encountered, as well as in normal climates. This reproducer is not, however, designed to reproduce Soundscriber records, although it may be possible to play some records of this type on this machine.

Price—$60.00, plus insurance and express on 26 pounds from Louisville to destination.

The Hoff Aid

(Upward-writing Slate)

Manufactured by

The American Printing House For The Blind

1839 Frankfort Avenue

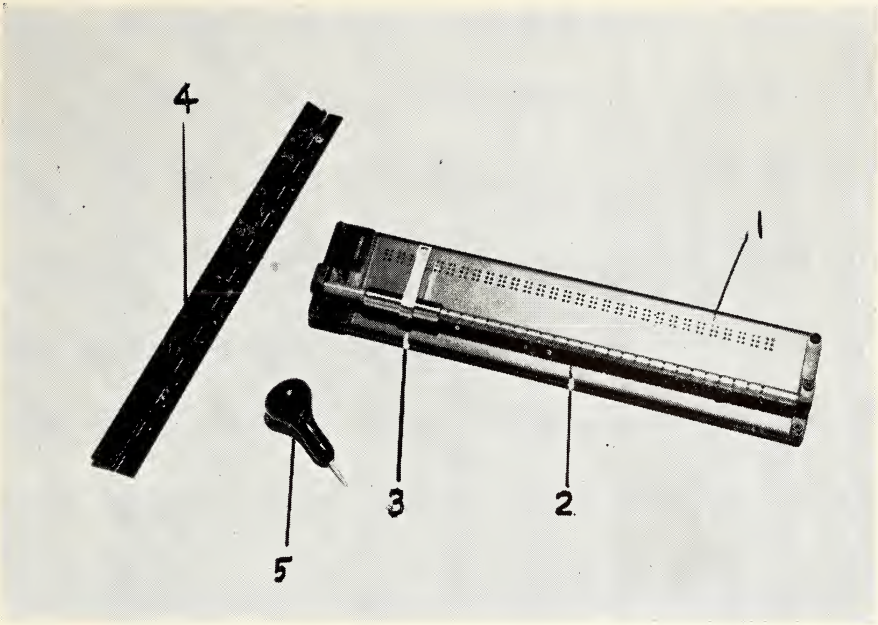
Louisville 6, Kentucky

The Hoff Aid is in the nature of an upward-writing slate, and is designed primarily for use in making mathematical calculations on paper. Its main advantage lies in the fact that it permits examination of the Brailled characters at all times without having to remove the paper from the slate. It is not designed for taking notes and the like, since it does not permit of the necessary speed in writing.

The device consists of a flat sheet of black metal, 9¼″ long by 2⅛″ wide, on which a single line of 30 6-dot Braille cells have been stamped with the dots pointing upward. Mounted over the frame is a round steel bar along which a movable die-box is made to travel over the raised line of dots by pushing with the finger after each Braille character is punched. The steel rod itself is slotted at ¼″ intervals so as to position the die-box over the Braille dots for writing cell by cell. The die-box is fitted with 6 inverted, conically-shaped caps the size of Braille dots, which are held in place by small springs and are arranged to fit down over the Braille dots below when depressed. A regular Braille stylus is used to push the caps down over the raised dots, with the paper between, to form the Braille characters. The paper itself is mounted in a hinged metal line-index paper feed, which is in turn slipped into the slate at the left between the bottom of the slate and the rod with the movable die-box. The movable die-box can be pushed from left to right as desired, and the line-index paper feed (with the paper) can be moved up and down at will to give proper line spacing. Further, if desired, the die-box can be flipped back from over the line of writing to permit easy reading of calculations already written. When not in use, the line-index paper feed can be fitted under two clamps under the bottom of the slate, so as not to become separated from the frame.

The maximum size of paper which can be used with the Hoff Aid is 8½″x9½″, providing for 16 Braille lines of 30 cells to the line.

Price—$12.16, postpaid in the United States.



1. Line of upward-pointing dots.
2. Slotted steel bar over which movable diebox runs.
3. Movable diebox.
4. Hinged line-index paper feed.
5. Stylus.

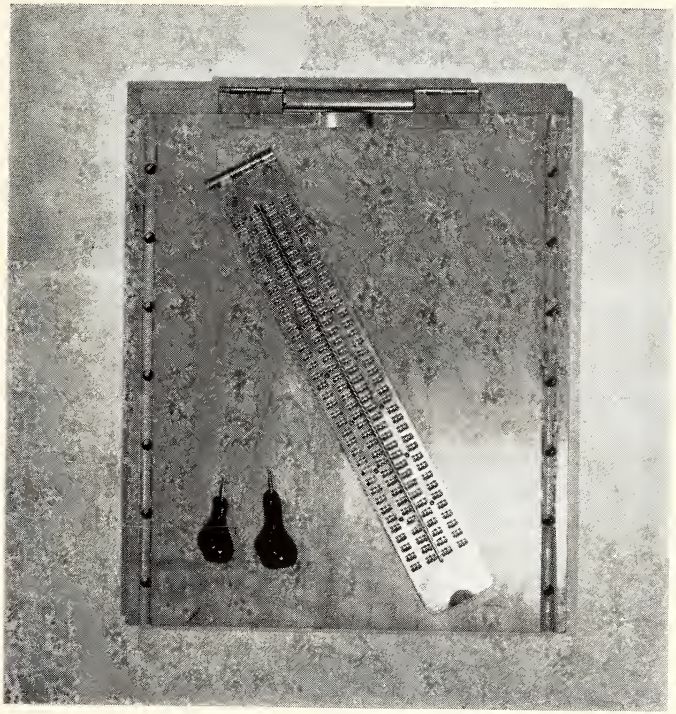
Designed as an incentive to learning the multiplication tables, squares and cubes through No. 12, the Kine Mltply Vizr consists of a thick cardboard, 11″x11″ square, on which has been mounted a bright red plastic wheel embossed with the numbers and fitted with fluted edges for manual turning and a gear mechanism to position the wheel for reading. Over the face of the wheel is a sheet of heavy paper with a V-shaped hole cut out at the top so that the Braille numbers can be read when the wheel has been turned to the proper position for the desired table.

On the top sheet of paper (over the wheel) the numbers from 1 to 12 are written on either side of the V-shaped hole between the ears of the bunny, the odd numbers being on the left-hand side and the even numbers on the right-hand side. To use the device, say to find the Table of 8's, the red wheel is turned until the No. 8 comes into position on the plastic wheel at the bottom left-hand corner of the V, with the multiplication sign (dots 1-6) at the bottom right-hand corner (see picture on front). To find the product of "8x9," find the No. 9 second from the top of the left-hand column on the top yellow sheet, and then read No. 72 immediately to its right on the red plastic wheel in the slot. Similarly to find the product of "8x12," find the No. 12 at the top of the right-hand column on the yellow facing sheet, and read No. 96 immediately to its left on the red plastic wheel in the slot.

Price—$2.07, postpaid in the United States.

Credit for the original design of the Kine Mltply Vizr should be given to G. Gilbert Scott, of Los Angeles, California, who designed the device in ink-print for seeing children.

Braille Slates and Styluses

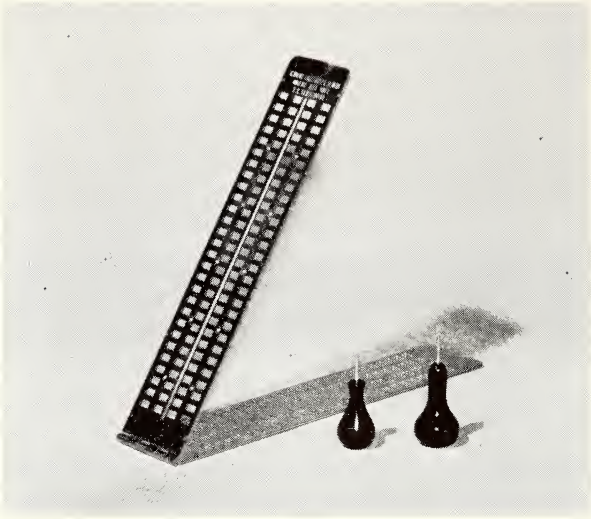


Manufactured by

The American Printing House For The Blind

1839 Frankfort Avenue

Louisville 6, Kentucky



DESCRIPTION

The Braille slate and stylus is the traditional device for writing Braille by hand. All slates consist of a metal frame (or guide), which may or may not be designed to be mounted on a solid board, and a pointed steel punch with a handle called a stylus. Each guide consists of two parts connected at the left end by a hinge. The face of the bottom of the guide is pitted with four lines of a series of six small, round depressions corresponding to the shape and spacing of the dots of the Braille cell. In order to guide the stylus in punching the dots, the top of the frame is punched with four lines of holes which outline the individual Braille cells and correspond to the arrangement of the pits in the bottom of the guide. To write on a slate, paper is inserted between the top and bottom of the guide, being held in place by small pins, and the Braille dots are punched downward into the paper, thus making it necessary to write from right to left in order that, when the paper is turned over in position for reading, the Braille characters can be read from left to right.

All slates manufactured at the American Printing House for the Blind employ standard American Braille spacing—.090″ between adjacent dots within a cell vertically and horizontally; .250″ between horizontally adjacent dots of two adjacent cells with the same Braille line; and .400″ between vertically adjacent dots of two vertically adjacent cells of two adjacent Braille lines. The face of the bottom of the guide is pitted with four lines of a series of six small, round depressions corresponding to the shape and spacing of the dots of the Braille cell. To write on a slate, paper is inserted between the top and bottom of the guide, being held in place by small pins, and the Braille dots are punched downward into the paper, thus making it necessary to write from right to left in order that, when the paper is turned over in position for reading, the Braille characters can be read from left to right.

All slates manufactured at the American Printing House for the Blind employ standard American Braille spacing—.090″ between adjacent dots within a cell vertically and horizontally; .250″ between horizontally adjacent dots of two adjacent cells with the same Braille line; and .400″ between vertically adjacent dots of two vertically adjacent cells of two adjacent Braille lines. While the number of cells per line may vary with slates of different lengths, all slates manufactured by the Printing House allow for four Braille lines of writing before the paper or guide must be moved to permit further writing. The same stylus may be used with all slates, although they are supplied with two different sizes of handles—the standard size for adults and smaller ones for young children.

There are two styles of slates—the simple guide; and the board of desk slate which has not only a guide, but a thick board to provide a flat writing surface. Both styles come in more than one guide length, i.e., number of cells per line. The simple guide without the board may be obtained in three lengths—the correcting slate of 4 lines of 37 cells each, the pocket slate of 4 lines of 28 cells each, and the postcard slate of 4 lines of 19 cells each. The desk slate may be obtained in only two lengths—the large board slate with a guide 37 cells in length, and the small board slate with a guide 27 cells in length.

The two styles of slates differ somewhat in design and manner of use. The three simple types of slates—correcting, pocket and postcard—consist only of the hinged guide, on the face of the bottom part of which are four pins which hold the paper in place. As each four lines of writing are completed, the top of the guide is opened back, the paper is lifted upward so that the two holes punched in it at either side by the two bottom pins on the guide are remounted over the two pins at either end of the top of the guide, and two new holes are punched to correspond with the bottom pins, and the top of the guide is then again closed ready for writing. Thus, the paper can be successively moved from pins to pins so as to keep the line-spacing true down its entire length. The advantage of this slate lies in its light weight and easy storage or transportation.

The two desk model slates consist not only of the hinged guide (without the pins for holding the paper), but a solid wooden board 9/16″ thick, with a metal hinge with 2 pins at the top for clamping the paper permanently into position. In addition, the guides are provided with a small round peg at either end which match corresponding holes in grooves along either side of the board. To use this slate, the guide is mounted in the two top holes on either side of the board and the top of the guide is opened back to the left. The paper is then inserted squarely into the hinge at the top which is then clamped into place, and the top of the guide is closed over the paper. When the first four lines of writing are completed, it is not necessary to open the guide, but simply to lift it slightly off the board (with the paper still between the top and bottom parts) and move it down so that the pegs on the back of the guide will slip into the next set of holes on either side of the board, and so on, until the entire page of writing is completed. In addition to speeding up the moving of the guide, the fact that the desk slate is mounted on a board assures a flat writing surface at all times.

is even more portable than the pocket slate, although it permits of a very limited amount of writing at any one time.

PRICES

The prices of the five slates (each supplied with a stylus) are as follows, postpaid in the United States:

PURPOSE

Each slate is designed for a different purpose, as follows:

Desk or Board Slates: The large desk slate is designed for use where there is considerable writing to be done, as in school or by hand-transcribers. It will accommodate either a 10"x12" or a 11"x11½" page. The small desk slate is designed for use by small children with shorter arms, and uses an 8"x12" sheet.

Slates Without Boards: The three slates which are not used with boards are designed to be used as follows: The large 37-cell correcting slate is used primarily by transcribers when correcting errors, since it is easier to move about on the page than the large desk slate. The 28-cell pocket slate is the universal slate used by blind persons for their own writing, school children and adults alike, since it is light in weight and easily slipped into a pocket or purse. The 19-cell postcard slate is designed for writing on small cards and sheets of paper, and is even more portable than the pocket slate, although it permits of a very limited amount of writing at any one time.

The Brown slate is a refinement of the regulation pocket slate to which has been added an extra frame to hold the pins for mounting the paper so that it is possible to drop open the bottom part of the guide and read what has been written without taking the paper out of the slate itself. (See photograph). The slate provides for 4 lines of writing, 28 cells each, and employs standard American Braille spacing—.090″ between adjacent dots within a cell vertically and horizontally; .250″ between horizontally adjacent dots of two adjacent cells within the same Braille line; and .400″ between vertically adjacent dots of two vertically adjacent cells of two adjacent Braille lines. The overall size of the slate is 8⅜″x2¼″. All slates are made of bronze-colored aluminum, and employ a regulation stylus.

HISTORY, PURPOSES, AND POLICIES OF THE AMERICAN PRINTING HOUSE FOR THE BLIND WITH REGARD TO THE ACT "TO PROMOTE THE EDUCATION OF THE BLIND"

As the official schoolbook printery for the United States and its territories, the primary work of the American Printing House for the Blind is the extension of its services to the schools and classes for the blind through the Federal Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." This Act, originally passed in 1879, is designed to furnish to the Printing House the funds to provide the free school texts, tangible apparatus, and other supplementary materials necessary in the education of the pupils under instruction in the schools and classes for the blind throughout the country.

The American Printing House for the Blind was originally chartered by the Commonwealth of Kentucky on January 23, 1858, as a national, non-profit institution designed to manufacture and provide at cost embossed books and tangible apparatus for the blind. In 1842, Kentucky established the third state school for the blind, but soon found a great need for embossed books and educational devices for instructional purposes. Actually, the Printing House had its beginning as a small printshop in the basement of the Kentucky School. Because other schools and instiutions also needed books, etc., the Board of Trustees of the Kentucky School saw the wisdom of founding a national, non-profit printing house which could meet the combined demands of all the schools and institutions for these materials. As a result, the Printing House was chartered for this purpose, with the members of the Board of the Kentucky School for the Blind serving as the seven original incorporators of the institution.

For twenty years after its incorporation, the Printing House supplied its materials on a cash basis and through funds raised in several of the states. The exigencies of the Civil War demonstrated the need for a more adequate—and permanent—source of funds for books and instructional materials for all of the schools, and in 1878 the American Association of Instructors of the Blind memorialized Congress for an appropriation for this purpose. As a result, in 1879, Congress passed the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." The original Federal appropriation, which was authorized in perpetuity, amounted to $10,000 annually. Subsequently, as the blind school population increased, and new methods of education required greater and more diversified materials, the appropriation authorization was increased from time to time until it now totals $260,000 annually, including the $10,000 permanent appropriation.

Management—In setting up the Federal appropriation, Congress required that the superintendents of the schools for the blind in the several states and territories of the United States be made ex-Officio Trustees of the Printing House, to act as agents of the Federal Government in the management of the affairs of the institution. The Board of Trustees of the Printing House, therefore, is comprised of seven citizens of Louisville, Kentucky (successors in office to the original incorporators) and ex-Officio all of the superintendents, or corresponding salaried executive heads, of the schools and classes for the blind throughout the country. In this connection, it has been ruled that, in the case of public school classes, the Superintendent of Public Schools rather than the supervisor of the classes for the blind is the Trustee of the Printing House. All Trustees serve without compensation and must pay their own expenses even when attending meetings. The local Board of seven members constitutes an Executive Committee which acts for the whole Board in the interim between Annual Meetings.

The officers of the institution consist of a President (elected from the local Board members), a Vice-President (elected from the ex-Officio Trustees), a Treasurer (traditionally a bank in Louisville, Kentucky), and a Secretary. These officers are elected annually. A Superintendent, elected every two years, acts as the paid executive to manage the Printing House under the direction of the Board of Trustees. It is interesting to note that all six Superintendents of the institution during its nearly 100 years of existence have come from the ranks of the superintendents of the schools for the blind.

Both the state and Federal Charters require that each year recommendations be requested from the several states, particularly from the schools and classes for the blind under the Federal authorization, for books and materials to be manufactured and made available through the Printing House. A Publications Committee was therefore set up to administer this part of the work. At the present time this Committee consists of five Trustees, selected from the ex-Officio members, who are elected on a five-year rotating basis. It is the duty of the Publications Committee to select for publication those books and materials for which there is the greatest demand as demonstrated by recommendations from the schools and classes. Similarly, there is a Committee on Tangible Apparatus and also one on Educational Research, both also elected from the trusteeship on a five-year rotating basis. The Committee on Tangible Apparatus advises with the Printing House staff concerning new mechanical aids and the improvement of those already in our catalogs, while the Committee on Educational Research advises and directs the work of that department of the Printing House. Of course, all policies of the institution must be approved by the whole Board of Trustees.

Administration of the Federal Funds—The Federal Act requires that, on the first Monday in January of each year, the Superintendent of the Printing House shall obtain from the superintendents of the schools and classes for the blind a registration of the number of pupils whose vision comes within the accept definition of blindness* they have enrolled and under formal instruction with materials provided by the Printing House on that date. These enrollments are used to determine the per capita quota allotments for the following fiscal year (July 1-June 30) to the individual schools and classes. These quota allocations do not consist of cash payments to the schools for the blind, but are in the form of credits on the books of the Printing House which must be used in the purchase of books, tangible apparatus and other materials which are "manufactured at" the American Printing House for the Blind. The actual Federal monies themselves are paid over semi-annually to the Treasurer of the institution and, by law, are used for the purchase of raw materials and the payment of salaries for the manufacture of books and apparatus to the order of the schools and classes. It is not possible for the Printing House to purchase supplies, such as paper, furniture, etc., and then reissue them to the schools and classes on quota allotments without first processing them to a very considerable degree.

The quota allocations to the individual schools and classes

*The accepted definition of blindness is as follows:
"Central visual acuity of 20/200 or less in the bettre eye with correcting glasses, or a peripheral field so contracted that the widest diameter of such field subtends an angular distance no greater than 20 degrees."

are made on July 1st of each year and cover the allotments for the entire fiscal year July 1-June 30. It is against these credit allocations that the schools authorize the shipment of books and materials to their respective schools. However, at the same time when registration of enrollments are taken early in January of each year, the superintendents of the schools and classes are asked to certify the receipt of the credit for the year, although they may not as yet have ordered, or received, materials for the full amount. These signed forms are submitted to the United States Government for the audit of the Federal appropriation. As a courtesy to the schools, the Printing House itself carries credits or overdrafts (the latter not to exceed 50 per cent of the next year's anticipated quota allotment of a particular school) on its books, so that the schools may have more flexible use of the credit allocations to fit the needs of their individual school programs. Cash payments by the schools are also accepted.

Books and other embossed materials as well as large type textbooks for school use are selected in either one of two ways:

1. As noted on page 2 above, it is the duty of the Publications Committee to ask for recommendations from the schools and classes and to select therefrom the books and materials to be manufactured and advertised in the general catalogs of the Printing House. From the recommendations received, those titles are put into production for which tentative orders are received as followed:

Braille Books—Orders must be received from not less than five schools for a total of at least 20 copies.

Large Type Books—Only basic textbooks chosen for publication in Braille will be parallelled in large type form.

Braille Music—Orders must be received for a total of at least 5 copies.

Talking Books—Orders must be received from not less than five schools for a total of at least 20 copies.

2. The superintendent of any school or class for the blind can authorize the Superintendent of the Printing House to publish any desired title and supply as few or as many copies as the particular school may want, provided the entire cost of the Braille plates (or Talking Book masters), as well as of all copies provided to the individual school, is charged to that school's quota account or is paid for in cash by said school. Such books can also be advertised to the other schools and classes and be purchased by them at simply the printing and binding costs, since the original plate-making is already paid for. This makes possible the publication on quota accounts of books of considerable usefulness to particular schools but which are too local in character to meet the requirements of general materials published under the authorization of the Publications Committee.

In addition to initiating the publication of books and magazines of educational value, it is also possible for the schools and classes to purchase, at the price of printing and binding costs only (so-called "reprint price"), any title listed in the Printing House catalogs for which the Braille plates or Talking Book masters have been paid for by any individual or agency other than the schools for the blind, such as the Library of Congress.

Ink-print desk copies, edited to conform with Braille texts for the use of sighted teachers, can also be supplied on quota accounts. Upon direct order from the schools, the ink-print books will be purchased from the publishers and "edited" to show Braille pagings, necessary changes in copy, omissions, etc. Unedited ink-print copies can be furnished only for cash payments.

The manufacture of tangible apparatus is an old but, up to the present, very limited service which the Printing House can provide to the schools and classes. For many years, Braille slates, Braillewriters, topographical maps, globes, arithmetic slates, writing cards, etc., have been available. However, the opportunities for expansion in this field are great, and much emphasis should be placed on this department in the future.

In conclusion, perhaps the most important point which the superintendents of the schools and classes should realize is that the American Printing House for the Blind is simply acting as the agent of, or the channel through which, the Federal Government is giving aid to the several states for the purposes of promoting the free public educational system of our country. The Printing House can manufacture and provide to the schools only those materials which they direct and authorize be supplied, and is guided entirely by the wishes of the superintendents of the schools and classes, as ex-Officio Trustees of the American Printing House for the Blind, in the administration of the Act "To Promote the Education of the Blind." However, it must not be forgotten that the Printing House it also a "national, non-profit agency for the blind," and as such can offer its facilities to any other such agency which wishes to have us do its manufacturing. Books and materials are supplied under contract and are manufactured in accordance with such specifications as may be required by the contracting agency. The overall result is to provide a larger basis for operation, thereby reducing costs of production to everyone.
